Hoover For Quick Vote On Treaty

Washington —(AP)— President Hoover announced today that the London naval agreement would be sent to the senate for ratification immediately upon its arrival in Washington. Under the terms of the agreement, possible delay in senate consideration of the pact, the president is determined to put the results of the London conference before the treaty ratifying branch of the government at the earliest possible moment. It is assumed that the American delegates themselves will bring back the official copy of the treaty. They are sailing tonight from Southampton.

If for any reason the treaty cannot be brought by the principal delegates themselves, some attaché of the delegation probably will remain behind for a few days.

In any case the president's transmission to the senate should take place within a week or so.

Mr. Hoover reached his decision after conferences with senate leaders, some of whom told him that submission of the treaty now would either mean a prolongation of the special session, or the pigeon-holing of the pact until the session which begins next December.

SENATE CONSIDERS ACTION ON PARKER

Vote on Nominee to United States Supreme Court Ex- pected Thursday

Washington —(AP)— Senate leaders meetings informally today considered having the nomination to the supreme court of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, taken up in the senate on Thursday.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who will present the majority report of the judiciary committee in opposition to Parker, said he favored such action.

It was planned to seek an agreement later today in the senate for a definite time for consideration of the contested nomination.

Standing by President Hoover's choice for the high tribunal Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, insisted after a White House conference today that Parker would be confirmed despite the vote of 6 to 4 against him in the judiciary committee.

Judge Parker has informed his friends here that he has no intention of withdrawing as a nominee for the supreme court because of the opposition of labor and Negro organizations or because of the senate judiciary committee's action in opposing his confirmation.

He is now considering the advisability of requesting that the committee give him an opportunity to appear before it and answer the objections that have been raised against him. His supporters in the senate believe that such a course will be followed.

NEW YORKER CHOSEN HEAD OF INTERNATIONAL BANK

Basle, Switzerland —(AP)— Gates W. McGarragh of New York, widely known financier, today was elected president of the Bank for International Settlements. Pierre Quesnay, youthful French financial expert and a member of the French delegation to the Hague conference, was elected general manager.

VOLUNTEERS STAND OFF POLICE AT SALT PANS

Bombay, India —(AP)— British police made an unsuccessful attempt to break through a nationalist volunteer cordon around the salt pans at Dhatia Baag today. Three police were injured during the scuffle.

The constabulary made several arrests, including Professor Gharpure, president of the "war council" and two joint secretaries of the Bombay provincial congress committee. A large crowd watched the proceedings.

K. M. Munshi, who recently resigned his seat in the legislative council to join the civil disobedience movement, today was convicted of incitement to disobedience of the salt laws and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined 500 rupees (about $200). If he appeals the fine he must serve two months longer.

BIG POLITICAL PARTS FOR 3 U.S. SENATORS

Robinson, Reed and Morrow
Will Have Vital Roles
During Coming Months

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1930 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington —(CPA)— Three United States senators—Robinson of Arkansas, Reed of Pennsylvania and Morrow of New Jersey—when released from duty at the London naval conference will come back to play a vital part in the politics of the next several months.

Mr. Morrow, whose appointment has been announced by Governor Larson of New Jersey, must participate in the primaries in June. While Senator Reed of Pennsylvania will not be back in time for participation in the campaign in his own state which winds up on May 20, he will be expected to participate actively in the discussion of the amendment treaty. It is said to be more than a coincidence that Mr. Reed happened to be in London while the tangled affairs of the Keystone state Republicans were being tackled by the Mellon and Grundy interests on the one hand and the Vard-Davis combination on the other. By being away, Mr. Reed has saved himself possible embarrassment within his own party.

Mr. Morrow is expected to develop an interesting point of view on prohibition and the general opinion is he will not be as far toward the dry side as the wet side. Former Senator Frelinghuysen, who is contesting the nominations, is out with a program which probably will win for him the support of dry organizations.

MORROW ROAD ROUGH

New Jersey is notoriously wet in politics and Mr. Morrow cannot very well appease the dries altogether in

3 SUSPECTS ACCUSED OF MURDER IN CHICAGO

Chicago —(AP)— Coroner Hermann Bundesen announced today that revolvers found in possession of three men arrested at Michigan City, Ind., last week had been identified as the weapons used in the slaying two weeks ago of Edward J. Wolfe, automobile salesman, killed as he demonstrated a car to a "prospector."

The three men, Claude Lancaster, 26, of Broadhead, Wis., and Robert Strolheim and Wilbur Hunt were arrested after a chase, charged with several minor robberies and upon conviction were sentenced to the Penitentiary, Ind., reformatory. Indiana police said the revolver was taken from Strolheim.

CUTS GAS PRICES AND KICKS WHEN OTHERS DO

Madison —(AP)— Alleging discrimination, an independent company, operating a number of filling stations here and selling gasoline 2 cents under the usual prices, today appealed to the state market commission, after other stations in the city reduced their prices to the same as the independent company.

The independent company claims that the other companies are seeking to ruin its business through the reduction and that discrimination is shown because prices have not been reduced elsewhere in the state.

FEW WEAPONS FOUND ON REDS IN BERLIN

Berlin —(AP)— Two thousand Communist youths returning here this morning from a Leipzig convention submitted to search by police and the entire detective force of Berlin before they were allowed to enter the city. The only weapon found was a dagger on one of them.

All had their names and addresses taken. Of another party returning on trucks 18 were arrested, some of them with blacklegs in their possession. These 18 were released later after they had identified themselves.

Conferees May End Work Today On Tariff Measure

Present Bill Provides Higher General Protection Than Senate O. K.'d

Washington —(AP)— The conferees on the tariff bill went to work today with prospects of completing either late today or tomorrow their task of adjusting differences between the senate and house over the entire measure.

Except for five major rate disputes and controversies over the export duty and legislative flexible tariff provisions, which will be brought in disagreement, the conferees had only a few secondary differences over the administrative provisions to settle before making a report.

Senator Waisan of Indiana, the Republican leader and a senate conferee, informed President Hoover this morning that the adjustment work begun April 2, would be finished today or tomorrow. Senator Harrison of Mississippi, a Democratic conferee, was of the same opinion.

The measure as it now stands provides a much higher general average percentage of protection than the measure passed by the senate.

The rates and disagreements are those on Cuban raw sugar, cement, lumber, shingles, and silver, the four now being on the free list but carrying duties either in the senate or house measures.

The house will be called upon to vote on these items before a final agreement is reached.

The senate will be called again to record itself on the export duty and the provision withdrawing executive authority to change duties after investigation by the tariff commission.

With settlement of these controversies, the measure will be ready for a final vote in both branches.

The senate amendment prohibiting entry of all articles mined or manufactured abroad by forced labor after Jan. 1, 1932, was revised to apply only to goods in competition with American products.

"In no case," the agreement adopted read, "shall such provisions be applicable to goods, wares, articles or merchandise so mined, produced or manufactured which are not mined, produced or manufactured in such quantities in the United States as to meet the consumptive demands of the United States."

WET LEAGUE BACKED BLAINE WITH $11,000

Curran Says Fund Paid by Association Was Spent Independently

Washington —(AP)— Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, testified before the senate committee today that his organization had contributed $11,000 to the 1926 campaign of Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, a member of the committee, and a wet.

Detailing activities of the association, during his fourth day on the stand, Curran also said that $23,000 had been spent in advocating repeal of the state prohibition enforcement laws in Wisconsin.

The witness gave the membership of the association as 11,000 with the majority of its members in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and other eastern states.

Blaine was present when Curran testified that funds had been contributed to aid in his election to the senate.

ARCHDUKE MUST FACE GRAND LARCENY CHARGE

New York —(AP)— Archduke Leopold of Austria was indicted today on a charge of first degree grand larceny by a grand jury which investigated the sale here for $5,000 of the $100,000 Napoleon Bonaparte necklace which belonged to his aunt, the Archduchess Marie Theresa of Austria.

Women Learn How To Plan Menus At Cooking School

The eighth annual Post-Crescent diet and food requirements for growing children, held today at the Post-Crescent Hotel, was a demonstration of the points presented in the lecture. She will also give instructions in the use of thermometers, heat, regulators, and other points which are sometimes puzzling to the average cook. Women are asked to bring notes, books and pencils to the course.

The first future subject was planned for next week, after which a demonstration, and much information on preparing prepared an oven meal.

BEGIN PICKING JURYMEN FOR KOHLER TRIAL

Corrupt Practices Violation Case Begins Today in Sheboygan Court

Sheboygan —(AP)— Seven jurors were tentatively selected today in the first session of Gov. Walter J. Kohler's trial on charges that he violated the state corrupt practices act.

The men are Otto Grossenbacher, retired hardware man of Sheboygan; John R. Schnellinger, farmer of the town of Plymouth; Milton Scholte, junkyard, farmer of Sheboygan; Alvin Reinhold, farmer of the town of Plymouth; Carl Breckner, farmer of Sheboygan; and Willis Chandler, cheese factory worker, Plymouth. Court recessed for two hours after they had been questioned.

They still may be struck from the list of talesmen, should attorneys wish to enter a new objection. Ten men were examined, three being excused.

Because his sister-in-law's funeral took place this morning, the governor was not present. To hear the opening statements and the questioning of prospective jurors on the venue of 82 men. Shortly before noon, five talesmen had been questioned.

The first executive to come to trial in Wisconsin within the last 55 years, Kohler faces ouster from office if he loses. Today's trial marks only another step in what his attorneys indicated was a battle of appeals to the highest courts.

The charges against him were filed by four leaders of the opposing Progressive faction in the Republican party. One of them is Philip P. La Follette, candidate for governor against Kohler this fall. Kohler is alleged to have spent more than $50,000 in his successful 1928 campaign at the head of the "Conservative" faction.

Judge Gustav Thier, Milwaukee, presiding in place of Judge Edward Volz, Sheboygan, was asked immediately after court was called to order, to rule that the record show the plaintiff requested a special verdict. The request, from Harold M. Wilks of the prosecution, means that all 12 jurors must sign and concur in the verdict.

HOUSE SUSTAINS VETO OF PRESIDENT HOOVER

Washington —(AP)— The house today sustained President Hoover's veto of the bill to coin a silver half dollar to commemorate the Gold Rush centennial in the northwest.

By a vote of 243 to 16, it rejected a motion to pass the measure over the veto. Under the constitution, a two-thirds vote would have been necessary to override the president.

TWO ROCKFORD YOUTHS ACCUSED OF BURGLARY

Elkhart —(AP)— Warrant charging burglary and driving a car without the owner's consent was issued today for two Rockford, Ill., youths, the children of prominent families.

The men are Arthur Purnell, 23, son of a millionaire manufacturer, and Vernon Olsen, 20, whose father is a doctor.

Cannon Asks Old Status At State Bar

Files Motion for Immediate Reinstatement With Su- preme Court Clerk

Madison —(AP)— A motion for immediate reinstatement as a member of the Wisconsin bar was filed today by the clerk of the supreme court today by Hon. J. M. Cannon, Milwaukee, who on June 30, 1929, was disbarred for two years.

Commenting on his application, Mr. Cannon said he did not seek reinstatement because of the approximately 100,000 votes he received in his race for a seat on the supreme court April 1 but "because a manifest injustice has been done."

Cannon was disbarred for unauthorized practice by the supreme court on the recommendation of Referee E. C. Fiedler.

Among the reasons why Mr. Cannon believes he should be reinstated and which are set forth in the motion are:

Because the charges in the complaint were highly prejudiced and wholly unsupported by the facts or evidence; because the findings of Referee Fiedler were contrary to the evidence and recommendations wholly unwarranted and unequal for the evidence; because every presumption was resolved against him; that he was charged with acts he did not commit; that other attorneys engaged in the same practice sought to poison the public mind against him and that the conduct of certain judges and lawyers influenced the attitude of the press and that he was accused, tried and convicted by enemies.

Cannon contended that as a result of the supreme court's action his practice has been destroyed and his savings largely consumed and his means of support taken away.

In the horticultural building at the state fair grounds, scores of undertakers worked unceasingly preparing the victims for burial. The identity of 276 of the dead convicts had been established. HOOVER SAYS BUDGET NOW SHOWS DEFICIT

Warns Congressional Lead- ers of Need for Keeping Within Income

Washington —(AP)— President Hoover has informed congressional leaders that re-examination of the budget shows a treasury deficit for the next year between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000.

In a letter to chairman Jones of the senate appropriation committee, and chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, the president warned "there is cause for alarm."

The unusual procedure of writing a letter of warning to the congressional leaders in charge of the nation's purse indicated Mr. Hoover's concern over a situation which only a few days ago he had predicted would be averted.

At that time he forecast a surplus for next year of about $100,000,000.

BAY STATE MAN NAMED ASSISTANT TO HURLEY

Washington —(AP)— The nomination of Frederick H. Davis of Massachusetts to be assistant secretary of war, was announced today by the senate secretary of war.

The nomination was made by the senate on the death of Secretary Wood.

"LAST MAN" SEES HIS COMRADE LAID TO REST

Atwater, Minn. —(AP)— Private William A. Davis, 27, of Atwater, Minn., who was the last man left standing in the prison ward when the explosion occurred, today was laid to rest.

He had been shot when he arrived on duty with prisoners and guards in the prison ward. He was the only man left standing when the explosion occurred.

OVER 230 IN HOSPITALS

More than 230 other prisoners were in the penitentiary hospital and from 150 to 200 of these were in a critical condition from burns and from smoke they inhaled while fire raged in parts of four cell blocks.

The penitentiary housed 4,800 convicts, some 2,500 above the capacity for which it was intended, when the fire, believed of incendiary origin and fanned by a stiff wind, swept through the upper tiers of the four blocks, spreading death and suffering in its wake.

The flames were discovered shortly before 5:30 p. m. Within several hours the fire had been brought under control but the suffocating smoke continued to take its toll among the convicts. In the adjoining cell blocks men screamed to be released and when the prison officials capitulated to their demands the whole

317 CONVICTS DIE IN FIRE AT COLUMBUS

Delay in Freeing Prisoners Blamed for Huge Death Toll in Ohio

GUARD IS SUSPENDED Convicts and Prison Officials Carry Many Stricken Men from Flames

Columbus, Ohio —(AP)— Tales of heroism and of costly hesitancy were told today within the grey grim walls of the Ohio penitentiary where 317 convicts, locked in their cells, were burned to death and suffocated last night in one of the most devastating fires in history. And as the guards and inmates of the prison recounted the vivid details of the disaster, an official state commission appointed by Governor Coggins sought to learn what caused the blaze and why the locked-in prisoners were not liberated in time to escape.

In the horticultural building at the state fair grounds, scores of undertakers worked unceasingly preparing the victims for burial. The identity of 276 of the dead convicts had been established. The others, trapped in their fire-bound cells, were so badly burned that identification was almost impossible.

Convict heroes and prison guard heroes were told of time and again today by the hundreds of inmates who escaped death. These men, housed by the big prison, then the "home" broke out in the north-west corner of the cell block, vied and guards who mindless and reckless, dashed into the hot smoke filled there in valiant efforts to free the trapped men.

Meanwhile last night against Thomas Watkinson, a guard who was charged with refusing to give the keys to prisoners who wished to invade the inferno, brought his suspension today by Warden Preston L. Thomas. Watkinson, one of the two guards on duty in the section where death took its greatest toll, was suspended pending investigation.

STARTS INQUIRY

St. Paul, Minn. —(AP)— H. H. Griswold, warden of the prison residence of Warden Thomas into a courtroom only today and questioned six prison officials, guards, firemen and prisoners in the hope of fixing responsibility.

Warden Thomas said his first orders on receiving word of the fire were to send a deputy with keys to the prison gate to let the firemen in and then inquired if keys had been sent to the cell blocks to release the prisoners.

"I was informed that keys had not been sent to the cell blocks and I ordered the guards to get them down there as quickly as possible. I don't know what guards took the keys or how long they were in getting them there."

The warden said he then armed two guards with shotguns and took personal charge of getting the prisoners out of the cells to prevent possible escape of prisoners.

The warden said it was probably 20 minutes from the time he was notified of the fire until they were burning out today.

C. W. Osterlin, assistant Columbus fire chief, said he was the first fireman to arrive on the scene. He found it was not more than 12 minutes from the time the alarm was sent into the city and he said he saw flames inside the prison ward.

He then said when he arrived on duty with prisoners and guards in the prison ward. He was the only man left standing when the explosion occurred.

The warden said he then armed two guards with shotguns and took personal charge of getting the prisoners out of the cells to prevent possible escape of prisoners.

CALLS CROWDED PRISONS DISGRACE TO COUNTRY

Madison —(AP)— John J. Hannan, president of the state board of control, in a speech before the Racine club last night declared that it is a disgrace to this country that men should be housed in such crowded prisons as to foment revolt such as has occurred in a number of prisons recently.

The state reformatory at Green Bay received 448 prisoners last year, total population of 718. At Waupun he said 272 prisoners were received, and has only 536 cells for a last year and 1,302 men are confined with a cell capacity of 956.

Lyall Wright's Hearing In Murder Adjourned To May 2

JUDGE GRANTS DELAY ON PLEA OF PROSECUTOR

Former Sheriff's Counsel Objects Strenuously to Move for Later Date

Mauston — (AP)—The preliminary hearing of Lyall Wright, ousted "boy sheriff" charged with the murder of District Attorney Clinton C. Price, was adjourned today until 9 o'clock on May 2, despite strenuous objections from defense counsel.

District Attorney H. P. Rowan of Elroy, who succeeded Price, asked the 10-day stay so that the prosecution could obtain more evidence. Frank Hanson, attorney for Wright, objected because his client is held without bail, but said he would not oppose a short adjournment. Rowan repeated that 10 days was necessary and Judge R. P. Clark upheld him.

Wright, much matter than when he was taken to jail, appeared in court in a neatly-pressed suit and with a carnation in his coat lapel. His wife sat beside him.

After the hearing had ended, Hanson said he would try to have the former sheriff released under bond. He plans to apply for this to Circuit Judge Emory Crosby, Neillsville.

Wright insists through his attorney that he can establish an alibi. Preliminary investigation of Price's slaying resulted in a murder warrant against the former sheriff, now under sentence in a liquor conspiracy case, when a trail of blood was found leading from a spot near the scene of the shooting to inside the Wright house.

APPLETON MAN WANTS TO GO TO CONVENTION

Rudolph J. Schaefer, route 1, Appleton, is one of 138 candidates for delegates from Wisconsin to represent the state at the annual national convention of the National Holstein-Friesian association. There are 138 men seeking election as delegates from the state, which is to send 23 delegates to the national meeting at Denver from June 4 to 6. About 3,000 delegates and visitors are expected at the meeting.

The association expects 4,332 ballots will be cast in Wisconsin, a number to be exceeded only by that from the state of New York. Other Wisconsin delegate candidates include: Earl H. Eklund, Green Bay; John Zoberlin and George V. Buslik, Plymouth; Frank D. Kloehn and Leonard Seybold, Forest Junction; Albert Johannes, Two Rivers.

Fair tonight and probably Wednesday; continued cold tonight slightly warmer Tuesday.

General Weather

The low pressure area that was centered over Lake Superior yesterday morning has moved up the St. Lawrence Valley and now overlies the upper New England states. This disturbance caused cloudy and unsettled yesterday in the lake region and northeastern states and is showing this morning in upper Michigan. Scattered showers were also reported from the central plains states. A high pressure area has moved in over the upper Mississippi Valley this morning attended by fair and much colder in the lake region and most of the Mississippi valley. Continued fair weather is expected in this section tonight and Wednesday, with rising temperature Wednesday.

Committee To Meet

The street and bridge committee will meet at city hall at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The group probably will make an inspection tour.

PUPILS EXPECT TO PUT COMMENCEMENT FUND "OVER TOP"

Eighty grade graduates of the Badger rural school, town of Grand Chute, will sponsor a dancing party at the school house next Friday evening. The proceeds are to be used to help defray the expenses of the graduates on their trip to Washington next June. On the following Friday night, May 2, the Parent Teacher association of the school will sponsor a card party, the proceeds of which are to be used for the same purpose. It is hoped that these two affairs will raise enough money to put the Washington trip fund "over the top" and sponsors are working hard to get large crowds at both. About $46 more is needed to round out the fund.

EX-EMPLOYEE ASKS $2,700 DAMAGES FROM LOCAL FIRM

Schlafer Hardware Company Is Defendant in Suit Brought by J. D. Babcock

Suit for $2,700 damages, brought by J. D. Babcock, Appleton, against Schlafer Hardware company, opened in circuit before Judge Edgar V. Werner Tuesday morning. The suit was being drawn and testimony started shortly before noon. It was expected the case would be completed Tuesday.

Babcock claims damages on a contract which he claimed he had with the hardware company to manage its automotive department at a salary of $2,400 per year, with 10 percent of all profits. The former employee claims he first made the contract with the firm on April 15, 1928, and that the contract was renewed on April 15, 1929. He claims he was discharged, without reason, however, in December, 1929. He claims $1,000 is due him as commissions for the first year; another $1,000 is due for terms covered in the renewed contract and $700 in salary for the period between his discharge of the date when his contract would have expired.

The Schlafer company answers that it never had a contract with Babcock and that he was engaged by the month and received his full payment. The company further answers that the department did not show a profit under Babcock and that he was discharged because he was inefficient and incompetent. In a counterclaim the firm asks a judgment of $57.97 against Babcock, claiming that amount is due the firm for goods purchased by the former employee.

New Directory Estimates City Population At 26,000

The new city directory issued today by the Wright Directory Co., estimates the population of Appleton at 26,000 persons. Work on the directory started several months ago and it is being distributed this week to persons and institutions that had subscribed for the work.

Because of the shifting population a directory becomes more or less worthless after three years and a new one must be issued. A corps of workers makes a house to house canvass, much as the census takers do, to ascertain the proper names and addresses of all residents in the city. The directory, however, contains only the names of persons over 16 years of age.

Space is conserved in the directory to hold it to 614 pages. No more space than is absolutely necessary is used to print the name, address and occupation of each resident in the city and the bare name of rural residents is given.

The book also contains a street directory and a classified directory. Other interesting information con-

All Prisoners Awaiting Execution In Ohio Penitentiary Escape Flames

Columbus, O.—(AP)—By some irony of chance, all the prisoners awaiting execution in death row escaped last night when fire in Ohio penitentiary, claiming more than 200 lives. When the blaze menaced their cells, they were transferred to the solitary confinement section.

A hero of one prison "break," and one of the foremost trustees of the penitentiary, Jack Lattimer, former major league baseball player, serving a life sentence for murder, was given a shotgun as soon as the alarm became general and scores of prisoners were released from their cells. Lattimer, who has been guard at the out door for several years, stood vigil through the night.

Scores of telegrams clicked over the wires to all portions of the United States today as prisoners who escaped in the tragedy at Ohio penitentiary here communicated with their families.

"I'm safe," was the gist of every message sent.

Perhaps the most outstanding hero of the fire was Miss Amanda Thomas, daughter of Warden Preston E. Thomas, who maintained her poise and level head during the disaster.

which swept the penitentiary here last night. Cool from the first, she directed the work in the office of the penitentiary. On her cheeks, however, were the signs of weeping.

The scene of the disaster assumed the aspects of a battlefield. First spectators peered through the gate and found the ground strewn with bodies.

Among the dead and dying went the two chaplains of the prison, aided by volunteer ministers of all faiths.

The Rev. K. E. Wall, Protestant chaplain and the Rev. Father Albert O'Brien worked hand in hand, together with Dominican Sisters from St. Rose convent and Sisters of the Holy Cross order at Mt. Carmel. Among the victims also went graduate nurses mingled with white coat doctors from all the hospitals of the city.

Barry Sholkey, Toledo convict, known in the penitentiary as a "great kisser" sounded the first alarm—but the guard, thinking it one of his jokes, laughed at him. Refusing to become excited they waited and a few minutes later roaring flames, spreading under a stiff wind, told the story.

Material damage and loss of life were grotesquely out of proportion in the Ohio penitentiary fire. While hundreds of convicts lay dead officials announced the damage was only $11,000.

The fire started in the same cell tier at Ohio penitentiary where three prisoners last Saturday night attempted to saw their way to freedom through the bars, only to be apprehended and recaptured by guards who discovered them as they were ready to dash for liberty.

Among the "notables" who have taken prison fare in Ohio penitentiary as convicts, was O. Henry, the short story writer who was famous for his "Gentle Grafter."

Another prisoner whose name was connected with one of the nation's most famous crimes was Dr. James Howard Snook, who, in the death cell of the institution, died last Feb. 28 for the murder of the co-ed Miss Theora Hix.

Long known as a friend of men imprisoned in the ill-fated Ohio penitentiary, Mrs. Preston E. Thomas, wife of the warden, lived up to her name last night. When the news of the disaster reached her she collapsed and was placed under the care of a physician, but after a period of rest, she was ready to help the others. She took her place in the warden's office early today making calls and arranging for the case of injured prisoners.

Hundreds of prisoners died in the fire at the penitentiary here last night—but a pet kitten, whose antics amused many of the victims, lived. It was due to the eyesight of Howard Crandall, a trustee from Cuyahoga county and the size of his pockets.

Rushing in to aid a stricken man, he saw the animal, apparently suffocated on the floor. He stuffed it in his pocket. In a yard the feline was revived.

One of the few fire fighters injured in last night's tragedy was

HOLD POTATO SEED CLINIC ON THURSDAY

Arrangements have been completed by Gus Sell, county agent, for a seed potato treating demonstration Thursday at the Outagamie Milk and Produce company factory here. The clinic will last all day and farmers of this vicinity have been requested by Mr. Sell to bring to potatoes in bushel sacks or crates. A small charge is made to cover the cost of the materials used in the treatment work. This is the second clinic to be held this year. Another clinic is to be held Friday, according to Mr. Sell, but the arrangements have not yet been completed.

ELECTRICAL SCHOOL CLOSES THIS EVENING

The last class of the second electrical school of the year will be held at the vocational school Thursday evening. Ninety per cent of the members of the class has attended 80 per cent of the 12 meetings, entitling them to a refund of their matriculation fee. Members of the class are asked by Louis Liebke, instructor, to bring their receipts Thursday evening so the refunds can be made immediately.

Battalion Chief Norris Hems. An unruly convict struck him on the arm with a stone as he was directing some of his men.

Only the smoke kept "Big Jim" Morton, notorious Cleveland bank robber, from being more of a hero of last night's penitentiary disaster than he really was. He liberated a score of men from K block before smoke overcame him. Unconscious for a time, he was revived and suffered scant harm.

Sooner or later the "racket" was bound to claim Oren Hill, former guard, serving a life sentence for adding John Whitefield, notorious convict, later shot to death, to escape. Last night, in stifling smoke, the "racket" won. Hill was suffocated.

When a judge sentenced Garland Runyan, of Lawrence-co, to a term in the penitentiary for abandoning his children in front of Runyan lit the thought he would die within the walls. Admitted to the penitentiary yesterday and assigned to the ill-fated K cell block, Runyan was numbered among the dead.

SENIORS, JUNIORS PLAN FOR PARTIES

Make Arrangements for All-school Party and Annual Frolic

The senior and junior classes of Appleton high school met today. The seniors met to form final plans for the all-school party Friday evening. The proceeds of which will go to finance the Bolton-Roth Extremopar-contest sponsored by the senior and junior classes and the Tri-Square Reserves organization.

The committee in charge of the all-school party is made up of the following seniors: Delmont Bradford, Jack Kimball, Ethel Schenk, Mary Stimp, Joe Grassberger, Ruth Pierce, Neal Langman, Harold Schweitzer. The senior class discussed the senior banquet on May 29. Class day Plans for Class day and commencement exercises were considered.

Prof. Marshall C. Graff, University of Wisconsin Extension division, and H. H. Heible, principal, spoke to the students. Mr. Heible reminded them of the scholarship record required by colleges and universities, since the requirements are becoming stricter.

The junior class discussed the junior-senior frolic an annual event given by the juniors in honor of the seniors, and the Bolton-Roth Extremopar-

Advanced registration for the juniors and sophomores will be held May 7. Several students already have been in to see the high school principal about studies and plans for next year.

SEVERAL COUNTY MEN AT COOPERATIVE MEET

START TRIAL OF HORTONVILLE MEN

Dietzler Brothers Are Charged With Illegally Spearing Fish at Night

Trial of Lothar and Leonard Dietzler, brothers living at Hortonville, on charges of spearing fish at night time, opened in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Tuesday morning.

The two Dietzlers were arrested April 10 on warrants issued on complaint of A. Dunham and Royal Ott, special state game wardens assigned to this district during the spring months.

It is charged by the two wardens that they caught the Dietzlers with a light, spears, a boat and over 200 pike on the Wolf river between Hortonville and New London the night before their arrest.

Dunham and Ott were waiting at a narrow pass in the river and when the boat approached they jumped from shore to meet it. Dunham reached the boat where he was struck over the head by a paddle, which it is claimed wielded by Lothar Dietzler. The blow stunned Dunham and the pair escaped before Ott could reach the boat.

The game wardens charge they recognized the two brothers. The Dietzlers claim an alibi for the night when it is charged they were illegally spearing fish. The case is expected to go to the jury Tuesday afternoon.

DON'T MAKE YOUR KITCHEN A "SMOKE-HOUSE"

Avoid smoke and unpleasant odors... fry your food the modern way...

Cleanliness and convenience first attracted thinking women to Mazola, the pure oil for frying.

As a 100% pure fat, in liquid form, Mazola contains no moisture to flash and sputter and smoke. Your kitchen is as clean and smokeless after frying with Mazola—as it was before!

Foods fried in this pure, sweet, wholesome oil retain all their natural goodness and flavor—Mazola never soaks into the food but "sears over" it, thus preserving its full richness and nutrition.

Frying with Mazola is the pleasant, practical method of preparing tender, appetizing foods—once you try it, you'll never again fry with grease or animal fats.

All grocers everywhere sell Mazola in pint, quart, half gallon and gallon tins. Naturally, the larger sizes are most economical.

"Mrs. Brown uses Mazola exclusively at the Post-Crescent Cooking School now being held at the Elks Club Auditorium."

ROAD REGULATIONS ARE OUTLINED BY LIONS CLUB SPEAKER

"Brownie" Praises Appleton for Traffic Control
Here

A synopsis of highway regulations, driver's code and headlight laws was given Monday afternoon at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club at Conway hotel by W. W. Rowland, better known as "Brownie" of the Milwaukee Journal Tour club.

"The adoption of universal methods of enforcement and observance of traffic laws, is the only remedy for perfect movement of traffic," Mr. Rowland said. "The new code recently circulated in pamphlet form explains Wisconsin's part of the job in brief and simple form, which can be easily understood by even the most illiterate."

"Brownie" complimented Appleton upon its remarkable control of traffic and its fine system of markers on College Ave.

Appleton is one of the few cities in the state which has adhered to the proper spacing of parking markers on its main street," he said. "It also has observed the 15 foot from the corner rule in parking regulation."

"No complaints have ever been received about Appleton's adoption of 'freak' ordinances or traffic rules. Appleton has done much in aiding the movement of traffic through the city, via state and federal highways."

PRaises NEW BRIDGE
The construction of Memorial bridge has been one of the largest steps toward safety on Highway 41 ever taken in the state. Few people realize the value of that span, and don't stop to think what conditions would be if traffic was forced to travel over the old route, via S. Oneida st. bridge.

In referring to headlight laws, Mr. Rowland told members of the club that there is too much graft connected with its enforcement.

"Be careful of orders you receive from motorcycle cops who may tell you to get your headlights tested," he advised.

"Many motorcycle men in the state are working for headlight testing stations, and over-ride their authority in giving orders to motorists. The motorist must keep in mind the fact that he has three days time to make adjustments after he receives written, not verbal orders from an officer of the law."

Mr. Rowland urged that members of the club help educate the motoring public to take their driving more seriously, and take into consideration the fact that the number of people killed in the United States annually equals the entire population of a city as large as Green Bay.

PAYS $10 FINE FOR DRIVING TOO FAST

CHIEF WARNS AGAINST SHOOTING AIR GUNS

Police Chief George T. Finn this week called attention of local firms to the facts that state laws prohibit the practice of distributing advertising circulars and hand bills in cars parked on streets in the city. The chief said this practice is increasing almost daily with the approach of spring and that it should be discontinued.

STUDENT BAND IN BENEFIT CONCERT TOMORROW NIGHT

High School Organization
Will Appear in New Uniforms

A benefit concert to help pay for new uniforms will be given by the Appleton high school band at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. D. C. Moore will direct the band.

This will be the first public appearance of the band in new uniforms. The committee in charge of getting the uniforms is made up of representatives from the high school, the American Legion, Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs.

The use of the chapel is being donated by Lawrence college, the programs by Irving Zuelke and the tickets by Meyer-Seeger Music company and P. H. Cahill so there will be no overhead expense.

The next appearance will be in Green Bay on May 2 at the third concert to be given by the Fox River Valley Music Festival association. The other two concerts have been given in Appleton and Oshkosh. Appleton high school, Green Bay high schools and Oshkosh high school are belonging to this association. The Green Bay glee club and the Oshkosh orchestra also will take part in the concert at Green Bay. H. H. Hjelble is the treasurer and general manager of the association.

The committee in charge decided to buy blue whip cord uniforms with gold trimmings, the school colors. The uniforms consist of a double breasted coat, a tie, an overseas cap and trousers for both boys and girls.

Each uniform costs $25 to $30 and as there are approximately 60 members in the band from $1,500 to $2,000 was necessary to buy the uniforms. The concert at the chapel is expected to bring in enough money to complete the sum secured by solicitors from business men and firms of Appleton.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD DISCUSSES DAMAGES

The board of public works met at city hall Tuesday. Damages from the installation of water mains on Spruce st. and from the construction of the storm sewer on Lincoln st. were discussed, and an inspection of several sidewalks, the Prospect ave bridge over Jackson st. and drainage on Memorial dr. was made. The city attorney was asked to prepare an opinion on the necessity of obtaining permits to dig trenches in Appleton streets.

Plan School Yard Beautification Program In County

STUDENTS TO SUBMIT PLANS TO TEACHERS

School Boards Will Help Pupils to Carry Out Projects

An ambitious program of school yard beautification has been planned this year for Outagamie county schools by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, in connection with the county-wide observance of Arbor day.

Arbor day falls on May 2 this, but inasmuch as this date already has been taken for district meetings in the county athletic and achievement contests Mr. Meating has arranged for Arbor day to be observed in the rural schools Friday, April 26.

During the past year, Mr. Meating said, the rural pupils have been studying home beautification as a part of their work in agricultural classes. It is Mr. Meating's plan to have the schools put the knowledge they have acquired in these courses to practical use by applying their learning to beautifying their school grounds.

Under the plan every student, enrolled in the agricultural classes must prepare a sketch giving his ideas of how to beautify the school yard and grounds. The best plan is to be chosen as the one to be carried out by the school and pupils are asked to enlist the school board's aid in carrying out the projects.

On Friday, Mr. Meating plans, all schools will begin preliminary plans to beautify their school grounds under the best plan submitted by the students.

It is not expected, Mr. Meating said, that considerable progress will be made this year in carrying out the beautification program, but the schools are instructed that they must make a start. The best plan submitted in each school is to be framed and kept at the school and as the work is carried out that portion of the plan will be blocked out.

In a few years, Mr. Meating expects, the school grounds in the county will begin to show the effects of this program. Each year, in observance of Arbor day, more of the beautification work will be done.

In those schools where there are no agricultural classes Mr. Meating is instructing the teachers to have the students conduct a cleanup campaign in which the school yard will be raked and cleaned up. In the afternoon there also will be a program in each school.

Arbor Day annuals, which are published by the state department of education, have been sent to each teacher to be used in planning the programs. These annuals contain a history of Arbor day, its purpose, etc. The annuals also contain poems, songs, recitations and readings which may be used in the program.

CASE SETTLED AFTER TESTIMONY IS STARTED

After evidence had been taken for half a day and the jury had been taken to view the premises involved in the case, a settlement was effected Tuesday morning in circuit court in the case of William Timm, town of Center, versus the City of Appleton. Timm had been assessed $196 as his share of construction costs in the district and he brought suit against the district to have the assessment lowered, claiming it was excessive. Under the terms of the settlement Timm will pay damages not to exceed $100. The case closed Monday afternoon before Judge Edgar V. Werner.

FORT ATKINSON MAN FACES CHARGES HERE

Winifred Cuneo, alias Donald Blake, was being brought to Appleton Tuesday from Fort Atkinson by Undersheriff Edward Lutz to face charges of non-support. Cuneo was arrested at Fort Atkinson, where he had been located by Sheriff John Tappen following a search. He was held by Fort Atkinson police and probably will be arraigned in municipal court here Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning. It is charged he failed to support his infant child.

PAYS FINE OF $10 FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY

John Krueger, town of Grand Chute, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday afternoon after he was found guilty of assault and battery. He was arrested last week on complaint of Mrs. Theresa Freund, a local housewife, who charged that her husband had previously paid fines of $10 and costs, each on charges of assault and battery brought by Krueger.

The three cases grew out of an argument over the children of the respective families. Mrs. Freund went to the Krueger home and started the argument. Krueger charged, and when he put her from the yard she returned with her husband and they both beat him. Mrs. Freund charged Krueger struck her.

COMMUNITY FUND WILL ELIMINATE TAG DAYS, DRIVES

Civic Council Hears Subject Discussed by Milwaukee Executive

Operation of a community chest fund was explained to the Civic Council at the annual meeting Monday evening at Hotel Northern by Chalmers Traver, Milwaukee, executive secretary of the Milwaukee community fund. The Council is interested in a community fund for Appleton and probably will make it one of the objectives for the coming year.

Recounting the history of community funds, beginning in 1914 and continuing through the world war when the war chest funds were the modern counterpart of the present funds, Mr. Traver said, there now are 200 cities in the country with funds, totalling about $9 million dollars. Community chest funds are a reality in six Wisconsin cities, Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, LaCrosse, Madison and Oshkosh.

Elimination of tag days and numerous "drives" for funds is one of the main attributes of a community fund, Mr. Traver said, with the result that the time and effort on the part of the workers and on the part of subscribers who soon become accustomed to subscribing to one group for all philanthropic and welfare work.

OUTLINES BENEFITS The community chest gives all people an opportunity to work for one cause over a period of seven or eight days, centralizing community spirit with everyone actuated by one motive free from racial and sectarian difference, according to Mr. Traver. Organization of a community fund in a small city offers problems leaders in large cities do not have to meet. A recent survey of cities having funds of less than $50,000 showed this to be a fact. Many cities are having a questionnaire success of the fund in their localities admitted people were not "solid" on the thing. The survey also showed that among smaller cities 20 per cent of those answering the questionnaires reported it had failed as compared with only 2 per cent failures in larger cities where effort was centralized in one group.

DISCUSS MILWAUKEE FIND When Mr. Traver finished his talk on the features of the community fund, the meeting resolved itself into an open discussion of various phases of the question. The Milwaukee fund was used as an example because of Mr. Traver's connection with the organization as executive secretary. "The Milwaukee fund cooperates with the county poor department in family welfare relief, it was pointed out, and has 50 social workers under its direction. Neither the city of Milwaukee nor the county give any money to the chest, the two groups working together in that the welfare workers of the fund report to the county needs of certain families and then continue on the case until the situation is remedied. The Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. does not receive funds through the community chest, it being a principle of the national association to work out campaigns on its own. However, the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. does receive its funds from the community chest, as do the Milwaukee boy scouts. What action the administrators of the fund would take toward building expansion, as for instance the Y. M. C. A. was asked of Mr. Traver. He answered that in cases where a building campaign was to be put on the organization secure its own funds with the approval of the community fund, the two groups then working out a method whereby the extra overhead could be taken care of with no inconvenience.

BOARDS SOLVE ITLS Boards are solved annually by the community fund to discuss many and various problems Mr. Traver said, and in Milwaukee situations always have been settled amicably to all concerned. The boards are active the year round and represent various business and financial leaders. Success of the whole thing, he pointed out, depends entirely on the readiness of the people to back up the fund and to work in its campaigns and on its boards.

There are two ways a community fund may be started in Appleton, Mr. Traver believes. One is to call a general meeting of every one interested and then set up the organization to begin educating people on the features of the fund, and asking them to work for it. The other way is to have the national community fund send a representative to Appleton to make a survey here and then determine the procedure to be followed. He did not especially recommend the latter plan.

Following the discussion it was suggested by President Guyer that members of the various groups now represented in the council take their information back to parent organizations and consider a plan whereby work on a fund for Appleton may be started.

ASK CITY PARKING LAW BE ENFORCED Retailers Want 90 Minute Period Adhered to by Appleton Motorists

Enforcement of the 90 minute parking ordinance will be asked of the common council by retailers, following action taken at a meeting Monday morning at the chamber of commerce. The principal business concerned the traffic question in the city and the parking ordinance.

Two other groups of the chamber of commerce met Monday. The budget committee met Monday afternoon and decided on a $14,000 budget for the next year. The budget will now be turned over to chamber directors for approval and acceptance.

Automobile dealers, members of the chamber's automotive division, met at the Conway hotel for dinner and a meeting Monday night. They discussed problems confronting dealers and the possibility of group advertising of used cars.

that the next naval conference would take place in 1935, "unless events of such happy nature take place meanwhile that it be not required."

Colonel Stimson spoke for America, emphasizing that the treaty "fixes our naval relationship with the British commonwealth of nations upon a fair and lasting basis," at the same time establishing "our naval relationship with our good neighbors across the Pacific."

Mr. Briand, while admitting that the treaty was not as complete a success as France had wished, declared that its scope must not be underestimated. "We feel justified in having persevered when we see the results of our deliberations as embodied in the pact which we are signing today," he declared.

Both Mr. Briand and Admiral Sirhan, who spoke for France, declared that the treaty was a great success. Mr. Briand said that the treaty was a great success. Mr. Briand said that the treaty was a great success.

LUTHERAN CHOIR APPEARS HERE IN PLEASING CONCERT

Program of Great Variety Is Divided into Four Parts

Giving the second concert of its ninth season, the Lutheran A. Chapel choir of the tri-city, Rock Island, Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, appeared Monday night at Lawrence Memorial chapel under the direction of Clarence H. Johnson. The first concert of the season was given Sunday at Polo, Ill.

The program was divided into four parts. Included in the first part were "O Praise Ye God" by Tchaikowsky, written in typical Russian style, and "Vestale and Pray" by Bach, depicting the struggles of a soul seeking peace with God. Part two was composed of four selections, namely, "O Gladsome Light" by Katsalsky, "Listen to the Lambs" by Lett, "How Fair the Church" by Christiansen, and "Hosanna Pomerani" by Lvovsky. While not strictly in the style of a negro spiritual, "Listen to the Lambs" expresses some of the characteristics of negro music.

"Wie schon leucht uns der Morgenstern" by Georg Schumann, "Go to Dark Gethsemane" by Noble, and "Easter Song" by Fehrmann-Dickinson, were included in the third group. They represented the three most important days of the year, namely, Christmas, Good Friday, and Easter. The concluding numbers were "O God, Hear My Prayer" by Gretchenhoff and "Wake, Awake" by Nicolai, the latter number being an arrangement by Christiansen.

Other cities which will be included on the itinerary of the choir are St. Joseph, Madison, and Columbus, Wis.; Muskegon, Ishpeming and Escanaba, Mich.

COLD TO CONTINUE, WEATHERMAN REPORTS

Just as the weatherman predicted, old man Winter wandered back into Appleton Monday night and when the city awoke Tuesday morning there was much chattering of teeth and search for heavy coats.

And they were not out of place, for the mercury skidded down to 23 degrees during the night. Weather forecasts for Tuesday night and Wednesday indicate the skies will remain clear but adds that the cold will continue tonight and that Wednesday's day will be a few degrees warmer. The temperature at noon Tuesday was only up to 40 despite a warm sun that failed to do much good with the north and west winds blowing.

GRAVES OF HEROES MOVED

Removal of the graves of 450 British and Dominion soldiers from the cemetery at Ploegsteert, Belgium, to a spot about half a mile away has been completed and the long dispute over the matter has been settled according to an announcement of the British War Graves Commission.

During the World war the cemetery was constructed beside the ruins of Chateau Trossenberg, which had been destroyed only a short time before. After the war the owner of the chateau, a Frenchman living in Belgium, announced that he desired to rebuild the chateau and that the graves would be too close to the reconstruction building. After several years of negotiations the offer of the owner to donate land for the new cemetery was accepted and the bodies removed.

Representatives of the British dominions and members of the empire also spoke. These included Sir Atul Chatterjee, the Indian delegate, who briefly expressed his satisfaction at having been associated with the negotiations, and E. J. Heads Council

Adolph Guyer was elected president of the Civic Council at its annual meeting last night. He represents the Trades and Labor Council in the organization.

GUYER PRESIDENT OF CIVIC COUNCIL

Adam Remley Named Vice President, Mrs. L. C. Sleeper Is Secretary

Adolph Guyer, representing Appleton Trades and Labor Council, was named president of the Civic Council at the annual meeting Monday evening at Hotel Northern. Mr. Guyer who has been vice president of the Council for the last year, succeeds C. K. Boyer.

Adam Remley was named vice president and Mrs. L. C. Sleeper re-elected secretary and treasurer. A business meeting following the annual dinner consisted primarily of election of the new officers and reading of a report by Mrs. Sleeper on the past year's activities.

The Council worked for a crippled children's home in Appleton during the last year and saw its goal reached a few days ago when South house of Lawrence college was turned over to the board of education for use as such a school. The council also sponsored the playgrounds, the goodfellow drive, aided in acquainting people with the children's code and worked for its adoption, and sponsored a crippled children's clinic with the aid of the county medical society.

The annual report also noted that the playground again would be sponsored this summer, although Mayor John Goodland has asked the appropriation be reduced from $2,500 as recommended by the old common council to $2,500. An educational program on the need for a community chest and a trained social worker for the city also will be pushed.

DEFER DECISION IN DRUNKEN DRIVER CASE

A decision in the case of Henry Stegert, 1315 S. Jefferson, charged with drunken driving, has been held upon pending oral argument on the case by the attorneys. Stegert was tried in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Monday afternoon. He was arrested Sunday night, April 13, by Fred Arndt, city motorcycle officer, on E. College-ave. On being arrested in municipal court the next day Stegert pleaded not guilty and furnished a bond of $100.

BIRTHS

A son was born Easter Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garland, Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton. A son was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Smith, 728 W. Fourth-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital. A son was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. D. Buch, 1012 W. Spring-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A son was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joachim, Greenville, at St. Elizabeth hospital. A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Haurert, 727 W. Spring-st.

A daughter was born April 17 to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Glaser, 1741 N. Superlor-st.

317 CONVICTS DIE IN FIRE AT COLUMBUS

penitentiary yard became a streaming mass of gray clothed men. Two hours had passed, when this mass of men picking their way among countless bodies spread over the yard, became a threatening menace. Some of them cut the fire hose which continued to play upon flames that spread to the prison cotton and wooden mills. Others hurled stones and slugged the guards that were trying to maintain order. In the dining hall dishes and tables were upset.

HEAVY GUARD OUT Every available policeman in Columbus was summoned for duty both within the prison and on the outside. A sub-machine gun in the guard room protected the entrance to the prison yard.

Two companies of regular army troops and 1,500 Ohio national guardsmen were stationed at strategic places about the penitentiary. Every guard on both day and night shifts was on duty.

Still the thousands of milling prisoners in the yard refused to be ordered. When they were ordered to assemble in the dining room many refused. Later they were ordered in to the remaining cell blocks and dormitories but they insisted upon staying in the yard, crowding about the bodies which were arranged in long rows five and six deep.

Except for minor disturbances there was no trouble, however. About five hours after the fire was brought under control the rails of scantily clad convicts began to thin out and at midnight only a few of them were left in the yard.

Beacon lights and arc lamps, placed upon the main wall for protection played down on the ghastly scene. Slowly the work of removing bodies to the fair grounds proceeded. Scenes of confusion and terror accompanied the outburst of the flames. They started in the northwest corner of a new building of cell blocks, part of which still was under construction. It was in this new part that the fire originated, not more than half an hour after a gang of prisoners working on the job had left.

Apparently the flames broke out in several places simultaneously, officials said. Everything pointed to incendiarism, they indicated.

Liston G. Schooley, Cleveland councilman who is serving a term for participation in a Cleveland playground fraud was at work in the deputy warden's office, on the opposite side of the prison yard. He saw smoke rising from the cell blocks.

THOUGHT IT A JOKE

About the same time, Charley Shockey, a prisoner from Toledo, and one of those quartered in the damaged building sounded an alarm on range two of Section II. Shockey, a practical joker, was not taken seriously by his fellow convicts until they saw the red reflection in the windows of a manufacturing plant near the penitentiary.

Then a great scream emanated from Sections G and II. In each there were six ranges of 17 cells, housing four prisoners to the cell. The flames and the smoke were eating toward them rapidly.

William C. Baldwin and Tom Little, guard captains, dashed to the flaming building with keys to the cells. At the same time other guards ran to the deputies' office where Schooley, in the absence of officers, began handing out orders and issued all the keys he had.

Guards Baldwin and Little rushed into the smoke filled building, took the keys and started running. They started unlocking cells as quickly as they could. Meanwhile fire companies, answering four alarms spread every foot of hose available.

As the guards released convicts from one range they climbed to the next. Men were choking and gasping for breath. As they were released many joined in the great rush. A door had unlocked the last cell on the fourth range Little collapsed four inmates carried him out. Baldwin struggled on the fifth tier, then, he too collapsed and was carried to safety.

DEATH COMES QUICKLY

On the fourth and fifth ranges death took its toll rapidly. The lungs of the trapped men were filled with smoke. Ghastly sights greeted the rescuers. Suffocated men lay on the floor clutching with pale, white fingers at the bars that held them in.

Others were stretched across and under their bunks. Some had tried to bury their heads in the lavatories in the cells and still others had grabbed their blankets or torn their shirts from their backs to drench them with water and place them over their heads.

Streams of water swished through the mesh and the iron bars and formed rivulets in which the faces of fallen men were buried.

the scene resembled a field of battle strewn with corpses. At first, the prisoners who had escaped death emerged in pairs carrying a comrade by the arms and feet. They hurried across a small clearing covered with new lumber and dropped the victims into the grass.

Then they knelt beside the choked men, turned them on their stomachs and applied methods of resuscitation. For a while this revived the victims but soon they came so fast that the band of convicts found themselves stumbling over each other, dropping the men they had carried out and hurrying back for others.

IGNORE DEAD MEN

Groans and feeble cries from the lips of the victims, and words of encouragement and shrieks of terror from the men who were working over them rose from the ground. Seared and blackened faces bespoke the futility of pondering over men who already were dead.

"Make room for this man. He's alive. Gangway," came the cry from a little group hurrying along the walkway toward the hospital. "The lones of prisoners separated. They made room for the man who had a chance to live.

Out of the guard room door doctors, internes, nurses, priests, and ministers. Dying men cried for the last rites of the church. Medical men, some without hats or coats and others in uniforms of white tramped over the prison grounds, which became soggy under the burden of many feet.

Two hours after the fire started daylight had faded away and weary, troubled men worked on under the rays of the arc lights that gave the prison yard a dismal appearance. It was about this time that muttering prisoners, chilled to the bone in the night air because they would not order to go inside, started the disturbances that caused so much alarm.

The effects of warm coffee served during the rescue operations and consumed freely by hundreds who were idling about as well as those who were working had worn off when dark fell. But it was mostly the idle prisoners who were inclined to cause trouble. They assembled in small groups in different parts of the prison yard. The guards could do nothing with them. Stones flung through the air occasionally and once a hand man rushed a gasoline supply truck that had been brought into the yard and tried to set it afire.

Beyond the gates armed guardsmen and troopers were prepared for what might happen. Electricians, aided by trustees climbed to the guard tower atop the front wall and installed floodlights that illuminated nearly every corner of the yard. Police patrolled the walks, prison guards were ready with pointed weapons.

DANGEROUS PRISONERS OUT

Occasionally among the milling prisoners could be seen the striped cap of a member of first "K" company, that notorious band of convicts or, more likely, kept under close lock and key because of their tendency to start trouble on the least provocation.

But the men apparently convinced themselves that there was little to be gained by adding to the appalling situation created by the fire. The groups thinned out to mere handfuls. They took to their bunks.

In the outside world there was many a family whose anxiety could not be quieted last night. Out of the prison population of more than 4,000 each prisoner who escaped the fate of those in Companies G and II was as anxious to spread the word that he was safe as his relatives were hopeful of receiving it.

Prison officials finally called upon radio stations to broadcast the news that all prisoners who were safe would send word to their families today.

While the disaster was revealing at its worst pandemonium reigned without, as well as within the prison walls. Black smoke, rolling in clouds from the roof of the damaged cell blocks was the first signal to the outside world of the impending catastrophe. Spectators gazed with amazement and within a few minutes forced a serious handicap upon the officials trying to maintain order.

CENSUS MEN SHOW TACT IN LISTING LIQUOR HANDLERS

And No Embarrassment Is Caused, Either Now or Later On

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York.—(CPA)—Uncle Sam is doing a tactful job, causing no embarrassment to anyone. In jotting down in the census count the multitudes of citizens who make their living out of the liquor traffic.

It is estimated that in New York City alone there are about 250,000 persons who get their living as proprietors of the 27,000 saloons, bartenders, swimmers, drivers of beer trucks, and wholesalers and retail distributors of booze. They are being put down under various euphemisms, and so far the government's enumerating left hand doesn't know or care what its enforcing right hand is doing.

One man who writes "bootlegger" as his occupation, on his census blank, was arrested last week. That was not because he was so identified but because he appended some contemptuous wisecracking about the census and the government in general.

DON'T CAUSE TROUBLE

"We never get into arguments with the proprietors of the saloons, and it isn't our business to turn them in," said one of the census enumerators today. "Many of them identify their places as soft drink establishments and some of them even go to the trouble of prominently displaying soda pop and near beer, but for the most part this disguise is not considered necessary. We have little trouble in gaining admission to these places and getting the information we want—not nearly so much trouble as we have in slum districts where tenement dwellers are alarmed and resentful over the government intrusion, no understanding what it is all about."

New York, particularly, is intensely interested in what the census men will learn about the increase in its negro population. It is believed the final count will show 300,000 negroes living within the boundaries of greater New York. Harlem, the largest concentration of negro population in the world, is creeping down steadily from the north and negro neighborhoods are forming below 110th-st. Until two or three years ago 125th-st was the city's southern deadline.

All large cities will be watching closely the census returns, fearing the urbanization of the Negro. Between 1913 and 1920 the Negro population of cities increased by 875,000, while that of rural districts fell off 240,000. It is believed the present count will show an acceleration of this drift.

New York real estate interests are waiting impatiently for the census returns covering the greater New York business suburban area, which includes about 10,000,000 persons within a radius of 50 miles. Until 1929 there had been a drift to the suburbs, with the borough of Manhattan losing about 4 per cent of its

Gourmets Mourn As Small Restaurants Pass In Paris

Paris.—(AP)—The year 1930 will have a ring of mourning around it in the calendar of many a Parisian gourmet.

The passion for rebuilding, he has found, has sounded the knell of scores of the small "serious" restaurant whose clients' minds ran more to super-excellent food than to mirrored walls and bright lights.

Proprietors of these eating places depending upon low rentals and small overhead to serve the best food at a reasonable cost, have glanced at the rental provisions of the new leases presented them and silently folded their tents. Their clients, finding their favorite restaurants suddenly transformed into brightly painted, modernistic food palaces with skyrocket prices, have been forced literally to pound the pavement to find a new home of good food within the limits of a small pocketbook.

Some famous chefs declare that the decline of the serious side of restaurants is due to a real decline in the state of the public. As the days of the leisurely two-hour lunch are numbered by modern business demands, they say, so are numbered the days of fine sauces, carefully prepared entrees and poem-like sweets.

One of the most famous cooks of all France, who ran an exclusive little restaurant where kings and the great of the earth had been charmed with his exquisite dishes, recently found himself so far in debt that he had to close and scramble around for the wherewithal to pay his creditors. He found his clients wanted plain steaks and chops instead of "ortolans surprise" and "delice de sole de poisson," and he wasn't prepared to give them what they wanted.

Another famous restaurant, dating back half a century, was forced to give way for the erection of another building. When it was erected, sleek and shiny quarters were provided for the restaurant. The rental was $7,200 a year instead of the former $1,200. Prices went up and the clients went away.

Chain restaurants, and the larger establishments with little overhead in proportion to the business done, are getting the trade. The court-wait waits that the big restaurant simply can't produce meals like mother used to cook.

The exception to the tale of sorrow is the left hand of the Seine, where the "auberge" or country-tavern type of eating place has caught on. The general idea is to simulate, more or less, the kitchen of some Normandy inn, and the bizarre surroundings generally draw a fair clientele. Rents are still fairly low in the outskirts of the Latin quarter, and as the proprietors of these restaurants barely spend much on them, they are still bringing in a good return. In most of them the food and wines are excellent.

They do not, however, solve the

RADIO RECEIVING SET COUNT IS NOT FOR TAX PURPOSES

Commission Wants Information for Allocating Facilities

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington.—(UPA)—Any tax harbored by the public that the purpose of the radio receiving set count being taken as a part of the census is to tax owners of sets, as is done in practically all other countries, is allayed by federal officials here.

It is emphatically stated that the reason for including the set count question, "Have you a radio?" in the questionnaire is to get information on the distribution of sets over the country to aid the federal radio authorities in justly allocating facilities to serve the maximum number of listeners. Moreover, it will provide an index of the American standard of living.

Census enumerators have reported difficulty in getting this question answered. There seems to be prevalent the view that tax will be levied to defray the costs of administering radio, or perhaps to charge for programs.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Chairman Charles McK. Saltzman, the radio commission and Senator problem of the tired and hungry business man in the center of Paris who mourns the disappearance of his favorite food shop

Dill, of Washington, sponsor of radio legislation, unite in denial of this widespread rumor.

They declare the count will benefit listeners through improved and more equitable distribution of radio stations and power so that areas with the greatest radio population will be accorded facilities commensurate with their requirements.

Besides the tax trouble, considerable controversy has been provoked as to why radio was favored by inclusion of the question in the questionnaire and all other industries and products disregarded. Manufacturers of 40 different articles tried to get similar treatment to ascertain how extensively their products were used, but without success. As a matter of fact, the radio question was ruled out by Congress but put back in by the census bureau when the questionnaire was drafted.

That the radio industry will be benefited greatly is evident. There will be available precise information on the number of sets in use and their distribution by regions. The only figures now available are in the nature of estimates, which place the number of receiving sets at some 15,000,000.

But these commercial benefits, Secretary Lamont and Senator Dill assert, are purely incidental to the main objectives. The radio commission has no precise information as to "radio population" and consequently cannot accurately gauge the listener coverage of stations.

The data obtained by the census on radio will be of greatest possible benefit to the commission in allocating broadcasting facilities. Chairman Saltzman said: "We will have a yardstick by which to measure the radio audiences in every locality and will be enabled to allocate wavelengths and power accordingly, within the limitations of the law."

SALE of "Puppy Dogs"

Wed.-Thurs.-Fri.-Sat.
A "Pup" is the slang phrase by which a sticker or hard selling item is known by our salespeople. We're not making any excuses for this sale and we're not trying to convey the idea that you are getting something for nothing. As a matter of fact you usually get just about what you pay for, wherever you buy. We make a straight from the shoulder confession that every store buys certain goods which seem at the time to be imbued one hundred percent with "it", but, which later prove slow sellers. These items prove the rule so out they go at the prices we believe you'll pay. Including many broken lots that must go. Your best plan, of course, is to come and examine, see for yourselves and weigh the prices. The prices are ridiculously small in each instance. You'll agree when you've seen the values, that we've tied a can to the "Pups" tail by a very short string indeed! You'll not be persuaded to buy this merchandise. It must sell itself. As far as we can see it's nothing to "Bark" about — because we've looked at it so long — but prices considered.

KOHLER GOES ON TRIAL
Gov. Kohler goes on trial today at Sheboygan on charges of violating the corrupt practices act preferred by Philip F. La Follette and his political associates. Mr. Kohler has done everything possible to expedite a hearing of the accusations. His attorneys are prepared, it is said, to carry the case to the United States supreme court in the event of an adverse verdict. It is to be hoped that this will not be necessary and that the governor will be cleared on a presentation of the testimony in the circuit court. No one, regardless of politics, could wish to see the chief executive of the state of Wisconsin found guilty of a deliberate violation of the corrupt practices act, and no one expects him to be. He is a man of too high standing, too clean a record and too much judgment to resort to the expedient of conspiring against the election laws of the state. That much may be set down as reasonably certain.

In the broad phase of the charges, that is the expenditure by the Republican organization of upwards of $100,000 in the elections of 1928, it is not likely to be proved that he connived at the spending of this money in his behalf, and the supreme court has held that it must have been spent with his direct consent or knowledge to constitute violation of the corrupt practices act. The other charges are of a petty nature. If the governor failed to include in his expenses the entertainment of visitors who came to see him at his home during the campaign and the time of the Kohler employe band which now and then furnished a little music, that might constitute a technical violation of the corrupt practices act, but it would be silly to say that it would be a violation under which ouster proceedings could be seriously undertaken. Mr. Kohler has not conducted himself like a person conscious of having done wrong in achieving his election. On the contrary, he has shown himself to be unafraid of the attacks made upon him from the beginning of the campaign. The trial is of the greatest interest and importance to Wisconsin, particularly because of its political significance, which is far-reaching.

THE D. A. R. RESOLVES
There is trouble among the Daughters of the American Revolution. The action of this organization in "resolving" against the world court immediately following President Hoover's appearance before it in a plea for that tribunal, has caused some of its leading and most influential members to resign. Their reason is that they hold the action of the organization was discourteous to the president.

Without attempting to pass on the somewhat delicate question of the propriety of the resolution, we think it may be fairly contended that the Daughters of the American Revolution have inherited and conserved certain traditions that tend to weaken their judgment in foreign relations and concerning national defense. Emotionally they live largely in the past. They would be more likely than anyone else to cling literally to Washington's imaginary warning against entangling alliances, and to interpret Thomas Jefferson's declaration on that subject as applicable to the world of today as to the world of a century and a quarter ago. Their principal occupation is to keep alive the patriotism of their forbears and to profit inspirationally from their deeds. Both are worthy purposes, but when applied to the political problems of today these lessons of the past are apt to be misconstrued or misinterpreted.

This newspaper, believing as it does unreservedly in the world court, thinks the resolution of the Daughters of the American Revolution was a case of misguided feeling. We think they have been misled by propaganda which has sought to make it appear that American independence and security are threatened by our proposed adherence to the Permanent court of International Justice.

POLITICAL SAFETY-FIRST
The senate judiciary committee by 10 to 6 has voted an unfavorable report on President Hoover's nomination of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to be an associate justice of the supreme court. Previously it rejected a motion to invite Judge Parker to submit himself to examination on the protest made against him by organized labor and by the negroes.

The action of the committee, while it may be justified in practice, has every appearance of being political. It is rather harsh to condemn a man without giving him a hearing. Judge Parker has announced his willingness to appear before the committee for cross-examination and we may be certain his inquisitors would have made it as much of an ordeal for him as possible. President Hoover let it be known that he favored Judge Parker's appearance before the committee.

Nevertheless, the committee closes the case and reports against the nominee without giving him an opportunity to defend himself against or to explain the charges brought against him by organized labor and by the negroes. It is conceivable that although he granted the injunction in the Redjacket case on the theory that he was bound to do so by supreme court precedent, his sympathies and leanings may have been contrary to that ruling. He might also offer a valid explanation of his alleged offense to the negroes.

Whatever the facts, it is well known that the Republican organization has been worried over the political reactions that might come from the Parker appointment in the fall elections. They have been afraid of the effect upon labor and negro votes. Of course, men like Mr. Norris and Mr. Blaine may be expected to take snap judgment, but as for the others, it looks very much like political safety-first. We are not at all convinced that Judge Parker ought to be confirmed for the supreme bench. There are important tests of his fitness about which there should be complete satisfaction and about which, as things now stand, it is largely a matter of gossip or assumption.

The judiciary committee evidently wanted "to get out from under," and passed the buck without giving the nominee a chance to answer the objections urged against him. It may be politically wise but it does not look like a very courageous act. One of the consequences may be to precipitate an open breach between the president and the senate, encompassing such questions as the world court and the London naval treaty. However, the immediate question relates to the fairness of the committee's action both to the president and Judge Parker.

"WE" DID IT
"We" have set a new record. This time the editorial pronoun means "Anne and I," and needless to add the "I" is Col. Lindbergh. Sailing at a speed of about 172 miles an hour at an average height of from two to three miles, this undaunted pair has crossed the continent from coast to coast in the record-breaking time of 14 hours and 23 minutes, beating the previous time of 17 hours and 38 minutes. A couple of years ago a speed of 100 to 120 miles an hour by air was regarded as very high. The speed maintained by Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh shows the development that has taken place in the construction of both plane and motor.

It looks as though whenever the Lindberghs set out to break a record or to achieve some new exploit in aviation, they can do it. Without doubt the colonel is the greatest master of the art of flying the world has produced up to this time. His daring is balanced by his self-confidence and extraordinary judgment, all of which seem to have been strengthened by his alliance with the Morrow family. Probably no other woman can equal Mrs. Lindbergh in the poise and determination with which she has initiated herself into the role of aviator. They are a remarkable pair. The record they have just established will not go unchallenged. The advancement of aeronautics is so rapid that no exploits can stand unbeaten for long.

From being a cathedral, a church at Broadwell-on-Sea, England, was converted into a lighthouse, and eventually became a barn.

THE POST-MORTEM
IT MAY have rained and rained on Easter throughout the middle-west, and hence put a large sized crimp in the various Easter parades, but those of us who are still wearing last year's Easter clothes, are reported to have shed few, very few tears.

Well, the Motor Made a Lot of Noise
Colonel Lindbergh and wife have just made a new transcontinental west-east flight record, beating Captain Hawks' record by about three hours. There was no definite report on the matter of back-seat-driving.

Chicago is being entertained by the spectacle of Billie Brian, human-like ape. Politicians and gangsters are undecided whether to express open jealousy or to offer Mr. Brian a position in their organizations.

How to Keep an Expense Account

First buy a book—preferably one without any printing in it. A blank book will do. Divide the book into two major classifications, one for income, the other for expenditures. Some economists advise a classification for balance or surplus, but personally we have never found any need for that. Buy a bottle of ink—any color as long as it's red. Divide the income classification into as many parts as you have incomes—one two or else throw it away. (The classification.) Divide the expenditure section in parts corresponding to (1) Clothing, (2) Food, (3) Rent, (4) Non-essential. All attempts at the stock market belonging under classification 4. If you make any money on the stock market, you don't need a book. All entries should be made in red ink since there's no profit to this system anyway.

Today's Anniversary

BATTLE OF YPRES
On April 22, 1915, the second battle of Ypres, in which "poison," or chlorine gas, was used for the first time, was begun by the Germans at 5 o'clock in the evening.

The French Colonial troops, the first to experience the deadly vapors, found it impossible to withstand it, and broke in disorder. In their retreat they uncovered the left wing of the Canadian line and thus endangered the whole position of the Allied forces. At this juncture the enemy opened up a heavy artillery attack and captured the French front.

Following several fruitless counterattacks made by the British and Canadians the following day, the Germans on April 24 launched another gas attack. Again the British counterattacked only to find the enemy securely entrenched. After resisting the Allied counterattacks for a month the Germans gave up hope of obtaining victory by gas attacks and closed the battle on May 25.

The casualties on both sides were extremely heavy. The total British loss in the battle was 2,150 officers and 57,125 other ranks, while the German losses were returned at 500 officers and 34,173 other ranks.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Tuesday, April 23, 1905

Max Croswell arrived in Appleton the day before from a trip through the northern part of the state.

Anton Ritter left that morning for Hortonville, where he was to spend a week as the guest of his brother.

Fred Renner, Fond du Lac, spent the preceding Sunday with his parents in Appleton.

Henry Roemer left the previous day for Mount Calvary, where he was to spend a few days with his son who was studying for the priesthood.

Fred Heinemann returned the night before from Madison and Milwaukee.

D. W. Dean had returned from Louisville.

The high school district declamatory contest was to be held the following Friday evening at Oshkosh normal school. Miss Lillian Lowell was to represent Appleton high school.

The Club met the night before with Mrs. Frank Witlitz.

Miss Edith Ryan entertained the Tourist club the previous afternoon at her home.

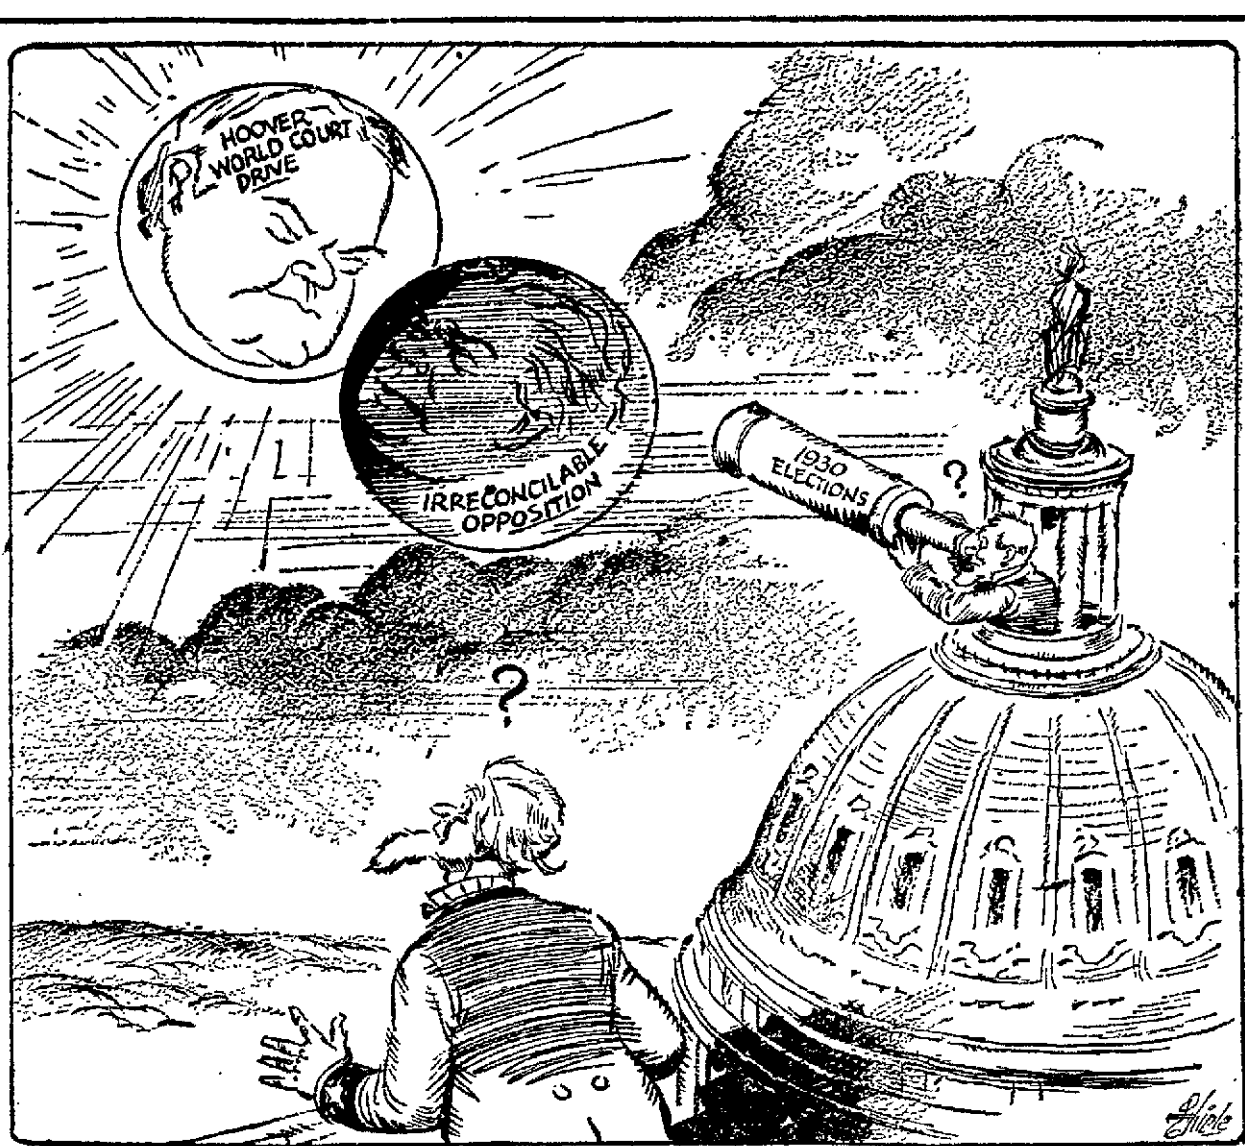

The Novel-History club met the night before with Mrs. Arthur Mead.

TEN YEARS AGO
Tuesday, April 20, 1920

For the first time a woman took part that day in the executive conference of a major political party, when Mrs. George Doss, national committee woman from Illinois, attended the meeting of the committee on arrangements of the Democratic national committee.

Miss Bessie Calmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calmes, 529 Second-ave., became the bride of William J. Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimball, 541 Hancock-st., at 9 o'clock that morning at St. Joseph church.

DIATHERMY AS METHOD OF CHOICE FOR EXTERIORATION OF INFECTED AND ENLARGED TONSILS.

McKenzie, a prominent English authority, announced in the November, 1929, issue of the British Medical Journal, London, that he is convinced that diathermy coagulation or desiccation will come to be the method of choice for the extirpation of enlarged or infected tonsils in adults. He finds it unsuitable for children, because children cannot or will not co-operate with the doctor or submit quietly to the treatment, as a rule. McKenzie's view of the new method was very briefly abstracted or quoted in the January 13 number of the Journal of the American Medical Association. Nevertheless the editor of the latter Journal (February 11) states that when he was in Buffalo recently several people (probably the editor means doctors) spoke to him relative to my views concerning this new method of disposing of bad tonsils. The editor says he believes I am offering to the public a method not yet established by general trial as accomplished all that its adherents claim for it. He kindly incloses for my enlightenment two pages from the Minnesota State Medical Association's official Journal, containing a long editorial about my advocacy of this new method of treatment, under the title of "Fair Play." The editor of the Jour. A. M. A. says he believes the Minnesota article expresses the point of view of the majority of the medical profession, and I regret to admit that he is probably quite right about that. The profession generally takes such a very conservative attitude that it merely stands pat. Again it becomes downright reactionary. This is an instance of just such a wrong reaction, and I have no doubt that both my Minnesota medical friends and my friend the editor of the A. M. A. organ will presently recognize the great value of this modern method of treatment, particularly in cases where an anesthetic is inadvisable, where there is some grave heart complication, or where the patient happens to be a hemophilic ("bleeder").

When I first recommended here the chemical ablation of varicose veins, many of the medical brethren betrayed their ineptitude, let us say, by pooh-poohing the suggestion as "one of Brady's pipe dreams." That was only two or three years ago. Today tens of thousands of sufferers have been freed from their trouble, thanks to the progressive spirit of a minority of the medical profession. Now when a varicose vein or ulcer patient goes to his doctor for this treatment, the doctor must either give the treatment or refer the patient to a competent man. He simply can't laugh it off any more. The public is being educated, and we physicians may as well be resigned to it.

It is less than a year, I think, since I began urging the diathermy extirpation of tonsils as an alternative for those who will not or cannot undergo the operation called tonsillectomy. I confess I introduced the subject here with some qualms about the professional propriety of the method, but that, you see, is just my own touch of conservatism. Today there is a rapidly growing list of physicians, most of them nose and throat specialists of recognized standing, who are providing this diathermy treatment for their patients and finding the outcome fully as satisfactory in the therapeutic sense as the most skillful surgical tonsillectomy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
No Honey.

May a diabetic eat honey without injury? (E. C. T.)

Answer.—No more nor less than he can eat any other kind of sugar, starch or sugar.

Ray Is Blind.
About a month ago I dreamed my eye getting off a bus. Does a sprain usually affect a tendon, ligament or muscle? Would an X-ray locate the trouble? (S. L.)

Answer.—Sprain is not a definite condition like fracture or dislocation. It is just an injury, sometimes a rupture or tear of ligaments, sometimes an actual concealed break of bone, and less commonly a rupture of a tendon. The very best an X-ray could do is to confirm the opinion of the doctor. Even the best of doctors or surgeons may be unable to detect a small bone fracture in a severe sprain, and it doesn't matter, as a rule, for the treatment would be the same whether such complication is present or not, only the sprain will not heal so quickly.

The Laity Relucts.
My sister was given a slip in school stating that with her mother's consent she can be inoculated against diphtheria by the health department. My mother signed it very reluctantly as she thinks there is great risk of becoming ill. Please tell us if there is any danger in being inoculated. (F. A.)

Answer.—It is not inoculation, but immunization against diphtheria. There is no danger in having this done. On the contrary it protects the child against the infinitely greater danger of diphtheria. Your mother should take great comfort in the assurance that your sister will be immune from that. If your local health board or school authorities call this treatment "inoculation" some one ought to take 'em into the woodshed and spank them for it. There is no excuse in such misuse of terms by such authorities.

Want Price Bimbos.
Married five years ago, baby boy born a year later after severe time, hospital bill $150, surgeon's bill $235. Five months ago another baby boy, this time by Caesarian operation. Hospital bill $65, surgeon's bill $250. Following this operation I developed "milk leg," and still under treatment for it. Are my babies worth it? Yes, a thousand times over. (Mrs. E. T.)

Answer.—Attagirl. Sounds great, after the eternal whining of the near-women.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

UPON the saltbait everyone was having just heaps of fun. The wind filled out the big white sail and made it look real fat. "We soon will be in Ostend town, I hope the sail does not go down," said Scouty. "If the wind dies out, 'I'll leave the canvas flat."

"Don't worry," said the Travel Man. "Just rest assured, boys, that we can keep right on sailing smoothly. We'll soon be into port. This wind can't die down quick enough to stop our trip. Each little puff is bringing us much nearer and the whole trip's naught but sport."

Then Clowny shouted. "Look, lads, look! My, what a short time this trip took. I see a town, not far ahead. It's Ostend. I'll just get. I've liked this trip along this stream. In fact it's been just like a dream but best of all, that skylark. It's the nicest scenery yet."

And suddenly—Old Ostend stood against the sky and looked real good. The saltbait soon sailed up to shore, amid a group of boats. The Tynites made the saltbait rock. Said Coppy, "On this river there is everything that floats."

They walked around the town a while and seemed amazed, mile after mile. And then they rode a dog cart to the outskirts of the town. "Where are we bound for?" Coppy cried. "And, why do we take this cart ride?" The Travel Man just smiled and said, "We'll do this trip up brown."

They shortly reached a spreading shore and from the cart hopped out once more. A man who held a big net smiled at the Tynmites. "I'm here to gather shrimps," said he. "And I'm as busy as can be. Now, come along and I will show you interesting sights."

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK
New York — Every morning a gray bearded man of 37 leaves the Explorers' club and rides in the subway or on a bus to his office some five miles downtown.
The trip takes 15 to 30 minutes, which the rider can devote to his newspaper. Sixty-four years ago he covered a similar distance in half a day and had to watch out for Indians, buffalo and a fresh water supply.
The old gentleman is W. H. Jackson, Civil war veteran, photographer, painter and world traveler, whose first long journey was in 1866 over the Oregon trail, the centennial of which is being celebrated this year.
Jackson is perhaps the only pioneer of trail days now living in this city whose the only unpaired road in the bridge path in Central park. Leaving St. Joseph, Mo., in June of '66, he reached Salt Lake City in October and California the next January.
He was a bullwhacker then, driving a herd of horses to the coast. Now he paints pictures of the western scenes as he knew them for the Oregon Trail Memorial association. Aside from that, he has one other distinction. He is really a nephew of Uncle Sam. Samuel Wilson, the Troy, N. Y., army contractor whose stamp on military stores gave rise to the character that represents America and who therefore was the prototype of the mythical "Uncle Sam," was Jackson's great-uncle.

SYMBOLICAL
A birthday party at a Fifth avenue hotel the other evening sat down to a table decorated with a miniature ambulance, motorcycles and reproductions of surgical paraphernalia. The guest of honor was Dr. Ernest R. Eaton, prominent physician, and each dish on the menu was named after some medical celebrity from Esculapius up.
The most decided air of realism, however, was conveyed when a surgeon, in white apron, cap and mask, came in, bearing gauze, lint and so on. A waiter garbed as a hospital orderly bore a great covered tray. The accompanying surgeon then sat down, took his knife and proceeded to operate—upon a huge birthday cake.

Which reminds us of another story about the wife of one of the town's medical lights. A woman of delicate sensibilities, she has been unable to eat chicken since her husband, soon after their marriage, absent-mindedly dissected a roast fowl in professional manner.

Seldom have the town's finest had to watch their record as they have since His Elegance, Grover Whalen, became police commissioner. What with orders on courtesy and neatness, and trials for derelictions in course of duty, the local gendarmes has been pretty careful of its conduct.

The cop who stopped in a shoe shine stand to wipe his boots and brush his uniform was attentive, therefore, when the proprietor, who had been reading the rumors of Whalen's impending resignation, said:

"I see you are going to lose your boss."
"Is that so?" replied the cop. Then, after a pause, "We'll sure miss him."

CARRIERS HOPE TO ANNUAL COMMISSION DECISIONS, CLAIM

Paper Company Joins Opposition in Reopening Minnesota Case

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Charging that the southeastern carriers asking the reopening of the old Minnesota and Ontario case, are doing so in an attempt to annual the decisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission and to take the case away from the Commission and put it in the hands of the carriers, the International Paper company has come to the support of Green Bay and other Wisconsin interests which have been fighting the reopening.

The International Paper Company was an intervener in the original case, and has now filed with the I. C. C. a reply to the petition of the southeastern carriers.

The southeastern carriers are seeking higher rates from Wisconsin to points in their territory, particularly to Memphis and New Orleans. Their petition asked the reopening of the Minnesota and Ontario case, a modification of the rates in that case and in the Fox paper case.

The International Paper company asserts that to allow the carriers to fix the rates would be absurd and unjust. The petitioning carriers asked permission to propose "reasonable rates".

The International company states in its brief, that the 42 1/2 rate on wrapping paper from the Fox River group in Wisconsin to Memphis, Tenn., a distance of 630 points, is not sub-normal as the carriers charged, but is 10 cents higher than the full sixth class Central Freight Association territory rate for the same distance. The C. F. A. rate is 32 1/2 cents for 630 miles. The 53 cent rate from the Fox River group, from Appleton as a representative point, to New Orleans, a distance of 1080 miles, is likewise higher by 10 1/2 cents than the C. F. A. rate.

Both rates are higher than the New England scale of rates on newsprint paper for more than the 1,000 scale for distance is 38 1/2 cents and for a distance equal to the 1080 miles to New Orleans is only 43 1/2 cents. The International Paper company concedes that the rate on wrapping paper should be somewhat higher than on newsprint, but it cannot reconcile the wrapping paper rates with the carriers' claim of "ridiculously low" rates.

In answer to the carriers' assertion that the Minnesota and Ontario case was opened some years ago to make rates on newsprint paper and so should be reopened now to make rates on other varieties of paper, the International company said that it is an entirely different matter now. The opening of the case was for the benefit of the Commission which is very different from the reopening now urged for the benefit of the carriers.

It was the Central Freight Association that first began the efforts to reopen the eight-year old case, and the Wisconsin opposition has been based, primarily, on the facts that the C. F. A. territory is not affected by rates resulting from the case, that shippers and carriers in territory affected had not complained of the rates, and that a reopening would cause conflicts for shippers and carriers not asking for it, and they also maintained that the C. F. A. had shown no reason for such a reopening.

TRUCK DRIVER INJURED IN HIGHWAY COLLISION

The combination of a parked car, a machine backing out of a driveway, and a slope in the road resulted in an automobile accident about 9:20 Monday morning in which Ervin Kock, 32, 722 Oviatt-st, Kaukauna, was injured. He is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital with a bruised chest and leg. He also lost four teeth when his mouth struck the steering wheel of the Swift and company car he was driving.

Kock, who was driving toward Greenville, smashed into the back end of a car parked about a half mile beyond the triangle school-house when he was trying to avoid a car backing out of a driveway as he was ascending a slope in the road. The car was badly damaged.

GERMANY TO FORTIFY HER POLISH FRONTIER

Berlin —(AP)— A line of fortifications on the German-Polish frontier is provided for in the Reich's budget for 1930. The government emphasizes that this by no means signifies that Germany is about to begin arming again.

At the Ambassadors' Conference in 1927 Germany was granted the right to protect her frontiers, since the Treaty of Versailles took away all her fortresses except Koenigsberg, Kueslun, Glogau and Breslau. As late as 1927 she was further obliged to destroy 24 of her remaining 38 concrete entrenchments.

The new fortifications are to be constructed on the west bank of the Oder River and are to be purely defensive in character.

MILLIONS IN U. S. SECURITIES NEVER BEEN TURNED BACK

Treasure Trove Which May Never Be Redeemed Exists in Country

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington — Treasure trove greater than that buried by all the pirates in the world exists in the United States, according to information obtained today from the treasury department.

Millions are involved in government securities which have matured or been called for redemption, but have never been turned back. The government has the use of this sum interest free and it is the belief of the treasury officials that few of these securities will turn up for redemption.

This is not the only hoard, however. Huge sums in currency are outstanding and the treasury does not have the faintest idea where much of it is.

The change to the new small-sized bill has been nearly completed in the cities and banking centers it is seldom that the old large-sized bills are seen, although it has been but one month since the change was made. There remains outstanding in currency $1,336,000,000 in old bills. This is nearly 20 per cent of the amount in circulation when the new bills were introduced.

No small part of the total of securities and currency which has disappeared from view is in hoards hidden by the owners and never found. Some undoubtedly has been lost or destroyed in various ways.

Of the securities, those issued at the time of the Civil War probably will never be presented for redemption and very few of the pre-war war securities are expected to be returned. Wracking of old houses may bring some of the newer mortgages to light. Some have been stolen and the thieves have been afraid to attempt to hypothecate them. A large sum in the two victory notes is still outstanding. This applies also to second and third liberty bonds, although interest on these has ceased. Many of the war savings stamps have been retained as souvenirs.

The souvenir habit of Americans also is held responsible for the failure of many of the large bills to be exchanged. People have retained them to fill out complete collections of government currencies. There are thousands of bills framed in commemoration of the first receipts of a new business. The banks hold most of the $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 bills, finding them convenient for reserve purposes.

Doors Open at 1:00
Lectures Begin at 2:00

WITH the opening of its four-day Cooking School at the Elks Club Auditorium, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, The Appleton Post-Crescent brings to the women of Appleton an opportunity to hear an authority in Domestic Science on problems of vital importance to every housewife. Whether a bride of a few weeks, or a home-maker of years of experience, these lectures contain interesting and instructive information to all alike. Every household has its problems. The planning and preparation of the daily meals, so as to provide a pleasing variety of nourishing food at a reasonable cost, is an ever-present and at times distracting problem. During the four days of the school many new recipes will be demonstrated and distributed. There will be ideas on marketing and menu planning. Practical plans and methods for controlling expenditures will be suggested. The uses of modern utensils and appliances will be discussed. In short, the entire field of the complex business of home management will be covered thoroughly and competently. Every housewife interested in improving her efficiency as a home manager will find these inspiring lectures of great value. The school is open to the public and free to all. No tickets necessary. Bring your pencil and note book, to copy Mrs. Brown's recipes.

Girl Scout Heads Plan Card Party

GIRL Scout leaders will sponsor a card party in two weeks, according to plans made at the meeting Monday night at the Woman's club. The place at which it will be given has not yet been decided. Mrs. William Baerentzen will have charge of the ticket sale. Catherine Ditzler and Mrs. Harold Podginski will make arrangements for the food, and the prizes will be under the direction of Florence Fenske and Mildred Schultz. Tallys and score cards will be taken care of by Florence Fenske, Lucille Dews will have charge of tables and covers, and Marjorie Kramhold will direct the publicity.

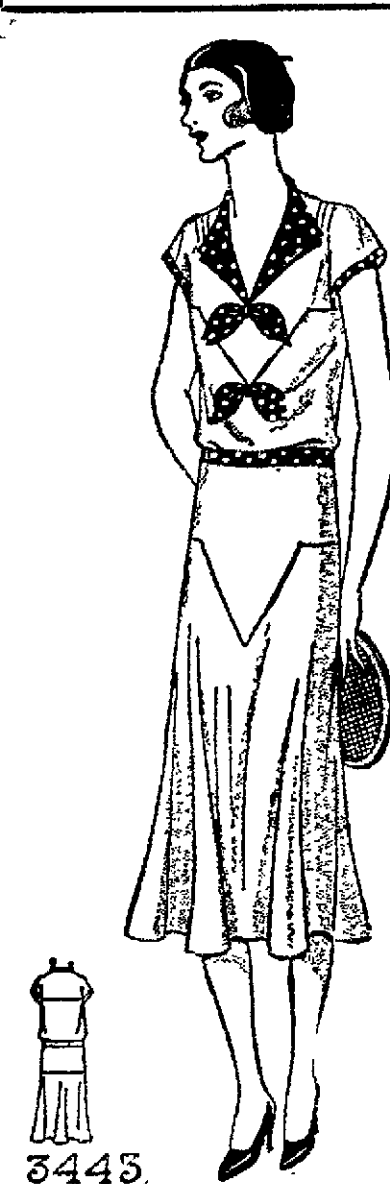

A meeting of the Brownie Pack was held Saturday morning at the clubhouse. Games were played and plans were made for ceremonies for the investiture service to be held within a week or two. Patrol leaders met at 8:30 Saturday afternoon at the club, at which time a like was planned for next Saturday. The leaders will act as hares and the others will follow as hounds in a "hare and hounds" chase. Plans were discussed for the song contest on May 3.

A "frisking frolic" took place Saturday afternoon at the club house, with a large crowd in attendance. Stunts were presented by the various troops, among them being "A Day at Camp," "The Lighthouse Tragedy," "We Have No Trains Today," and others. Between 20 and 30 girls were present.

Hawthorn troop, No. 6, met Monday afternoon and worked on their second class test. Some of the Scouts are nearly finished with the tests.

The Dramatic club will meet at 7:30 Tuesday night at the club. Regular rehearsal on the two one-act plays will be held. A meeting will be held Friday evening for all girls interested in baseball and tennis. Arrangements for courts will be made at this time.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

VINCE Clifford Becker, Harry's younger cousin, and Ronald Johnson, a fraternity brother of his, had gone back to the men's college where they were students. Corrine had been more quiet. It seemed to Sue that she was growing up fast. When she talked or went on merrymakings, she was her old gay self; but when she was home, instead of practicing intricate dance steps, and modeling new slacks, she studied or sat quietly looking into the purple twilight or shadows of the room.

"Do the high school boys seem young after the college men?" Sue had asked her once. "You miss Ronald and Clifford, don't you?"

"Oh, in a way. They have more savoir faire. Get that term, Sue? It really means knowing what to do and when and where and why. Bob is nice, though. She started to sing softly, with a mischievous twinkle in her eyes. "And he's mine, all mine. Men are like sheep. Leave them alone and they'll come home, wagging their tails behind them." He decided that so long as I didn't care if he played with June Walton or not, he wouldn't."

Sue wondered now why she wanted her to telephone her as she placed the call.

"Oh, I'm so glad you got me," Corrine answered. "Do you think the folks would care if I threw a party tonight? I haven't had one for ages. And I've got to do something or burst!" There was rather a desperate intensity in the small, asking voice, and its usual audacity was gone.

"Of course it's all right. I'll buy some things on my way home," she answered. "How many will there be?"

"Oh, about six or eight couples, I suppose. And Sue... I stood highest in our class in grades for the first six weeks' period."

She hung up before Sue could congratulate her.

Sue bought nuts and bonbons and a large cake with thick chocolate icing on her way home. She ordered Corrine's favorite black walnut maple ice cream to be delivered at the house and then turned into a little dress shop which stayed open rather late in the evening. If Corrine had won honors, she deserved a reward. She was glad that she had the award money on which to rely. Money gave you such a confident feeling. No wonder girls said that if they could buy a new hat or frock, no matter how smashed an ideal was, or into how many pieces a dream had broken, they could still enjoy life.

She picked out a very slender, shimmering crimson silk dress for Corrine.

"Oh, Sue, you're an angel," Corrine told her when she saw it, but her voice was serious. Her face was paler than usual, too.

Sue looked at her and wondered again if Corrine wasn't well; if she was worried. She must ask Harry what it was about which he had talked to her so long that night in the swing, she decided.

Corrine put on the new ensemble for the party and danced around, like a dancing, daring gypsy. When Bob came and held her off at arm's length, admiringly, she lifted mysterious red lips and kissed him lightly.

"The party, as Corrine said, got off to a very good start. The radio was going fast and furiously when Harry came about 10 o'clock."

NEXT: Sue questions Harry. (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

BRITISH GIRL ENTERS LONDON BUILDING TRADE

London —(P)— Margaret Mercer a 23-year-old blonde is the latest addition to the ranks of the building trade in London.

Margaret has just passed her final examinations at the London County Council School of Building at Brixton, where she was one of two women students among 1,300 men.

"Women seem to have more or less free access to everything except building," she said. "Everybody has said that my ambition to be a builder, as my father and grandfather before me, was a peculiar ambition, but I simply can't see it."

She admits that there are a few snags in feminine pursuit of the practical work of the trade—bricklaying, painting, and plumbing. So she is content to remain in the executive and directive end of the work.

On the Air Tonight

By The Associated Press

The radio audience will have their second opportunity to hear Sigmund Romberg, leading American composer of operetta scores, when he appears over WTAM and the NBC stations at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Romberg will be at the piano for several numbers during the program which will consist entirely of his own compositions. Among the selections are melodies from "The Student Prince," "The Desert Song," and one of his earliest successes "The Blue Paradise."

A program of diversified music will be offered over WTAM at 7:30 o'clock. Two quartette specialties, two piano numbers, a xylophone selection and popular numbers by the orchestra will be included.

Paul Whiteman, king of jazz, returns to New York on an extended western tour where he has completed the production of the musical comedy, "King of Jazz," to resume the weekly broadcasts from the New York studios of the Columbia broadcasting company. Al Jolson, Bailey, contralto, sings several numbers on the program to be broadcast over WTAM and the NBC stations at 8 p. m.

An interesting novelty, replete with unique original effects, will be the "Musical Number" as presented by Vincent Lopez and his orchestra over WTAM and the NBC stations at 7 o'clock.

A symposium of song hits by De Sylva, Brown and Henderson, on a program to be broadcast over WTAM and the NBC network at 8 p. m.

Speakers on the program which will celebrate the unveiling of a monument to "The Pioneer Woman" at Ponca City, Oklahoma, are Secretary of War, Patrick J. Hurley, Will Rogers, and Governor W. J. Holloway of Oklahoma. The program will be broadcast over WIDO and the NBC network at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

STYLE WRITING IS NEW JOB FOR WOMEN

Paris —(P)— Style writing is an up and coming profession for women which has developed since the war.

More than 100 resident style writers working for United States magazines, newspapers, or syndicated English fashion correspondents rank second in number and German writers come third.

Strangely enough there are few French women engaged in writing for French publications. French daily papers print almost no news of women's styles.

Prior to 1914 less than half a dozen people sent accurate and timely style news from Paris.

Dreammakers who suspected that their styles had been "written up" punished the offending writer by refusing admission to their showings.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church will sponsor a dinner and supper Wednesday at the church. Dinner will be served from 11 to 1 o'clock and supper from 5 to 8. Tal's To Parents

AFTER ILLNESS BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

Every mother dreads the period when her child has just recovered from an illness and is perhaps for the first time in weeks up and about and supposedly his usual self.

These are the days of peevishness, of clinging to mother's skirts, of temper tantrums over nothing, and an unreasonable irritability which tries a mother's patience to the utmost.

It is time, too, when we are particularly anxious not to resort to severity and punishment.

While the child was ill, nothing was demanded of him and everything was done to keep him as comfortable and happy as possible. Now, when he is off the sick list he naturally tries to cling to the special prerogatives and privileges which were his as an invalid.

It is almost impossible not to spoil a sick child and the process of unspoiling him afterwards is not easy.

At this time we need to be particularly careful to avoid any sort of strain. If we know that Tommy, who has just recovered from the measles, has a tendency to quarrel with his brother, we will see to it that he is not thrown too much with him during the first days.

We will be particularly careful to provide for him plenty of interesting things to do.

Without appearing to hover over him, we will watch for the first signs of fatigue or over-stimulation and either make him lie down and rest or let him listen quietly to a story or some music.

We will aim always to prevent the crises which call for discipline without letting him become aware that we are doing so.

The church parlors at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening to discuss plans for next Sunday's program. Student and school problems also will be discussed.

Old ways seem crude once you know the lasting comfort of Kotex

YOU will never go back to old-fashioned methods once you have tried Kotex. There is really nothing like its safe, soft, lasting protection.

Kotex softness comes from many filmy, thin layers of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This is the very same absorbent used in 85% of our great hospitals today.

It is a cellulose substance which acts as efficiently as the very softest cotton—but with five times greater absorbency.

Try it. You will see, then, what a difference it makes. It is disposable, you know. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

Three Nations Agree To Limit And Reduce Armaments

OTHER PHASES AGREED UPON BY 5 POWERS

France and Italy Sign Only Sections on Submarines, Capital Ship Recess

London (AP)—The naval treaty signed at St. James' palace, carrying forward the work of the Washington naval conference, prescribes limitation and reduction of naval armaments for three signatory nations and agreement on some phases of the naval disarmament problem for the five nations participating in the conference here.

The three limiting nations are the United States, Japan and Great Britain; France and Italy did not enter the limitation section of the treaty, and signed only those sections referring to "humanization" of submarines, a capital ship holiday, and certain other technical phases of the problem.

The treaty contains 26 articles and a preamble. The first article deals with the undertaking of the contracting parties not to exercise the rights they acquired by the Washington treaty of 1922 in the matter of capital ship replacement and tonnage.

Relinquishment of these rights is without prejudice to the right of replacing any ships which may be lost accidentally, or is without prejudice to the right of France and Italy to build replacement tonnage, as yet unutilized, which the Washington treaty entitled them to build in 1927 and 1929.

SHIPS TO BE SCRAPPED
In the second article of the treaty the United States agrees to rid itself of the battleships Florida, Utah, and either the Arkansas or Wyoming, while Great Britain abandons the Benbow, the Iron Duke, the Marlborough, the Emperor of India, and the Tiger, and Japan scraps the Kiyu.

The manner of scrapping these giants, unless they are used as targets, is prescribed.

The third article gives a new definition of aircraft carriers, repeals that of the Washington treaty and conferring the designation of aircraft carrier on any surface vessel of whatever displacement which is used exclusively for carrying aircraft and constructed so that aircraft can be launched from it and landed thereon.

No capital ship existing April 1 of this year may be fitted with landing decks.

The fourth article prohibits acquisition or construction of any aircraft carrier of 10,000 tons or less mounting guns above 6.1 inch calibre.

The sixth article determines the standard of displacement of surface vessels to be in accordance with the provisions of the Washington treaty, and prescribes in detail the standard of displacement for submarines.

SUBMARINE AGREEMENT
In article 7 the signatories agree not to acquire or construct any submarines exceeding 2,000 tons displacement or with a gun above 5.1 inch calibre, although they may retain such as they possess April 1, 1930.

Article 8 lays down that certain specified vessels are exempt from limitation, these being surface vessels of between 500 and 2,000 tons.

Article 9 deals with rules for replacement and Article 10 provides for information to be given by each party to other parties to the treaty of vessels it is building, while Article 11 lays down rules for disposal of abandoned vessels.

Certain vessels listed in the annex and described as "special vessels" are allowed under Article 12 to be retained, their tonnage not being included in the tonnage subject to limitations.

Of these 14 are United States vessels, 21 are French, 7 are British, 7 Italian, and 8 are Japanese.

It is provided in the same article that any other vessel built, adapted or acquired for the purposes for which these special vessels are retained shall be charged against the tonnage of an appropriate combatant category, unless conforming to the exemptions vessels listed in Article 8.

TREATY IN 5 PARTS
The foregoing articles constitute two of the five parts into which the treaty is divided, both parts to be subscribed to by the five great powers. The third part comprises the agreement to which the United States, Great Britain and Japan alone are signatory.

Article 14, which leads the third part, declares that the United States, the British commonwealth, and Japan agree to limit for duration of the treaty their combatant vessels other than capital ships, aircraft carriers, and the vessels exempted under Article 8.

Article 15 contains a definition of cruisers and destroyers. Cruisers are defined as "surface vessels of war other than capital ships or aircraft carriers, the standard displacement of which exceeds 350 tons, and with a gun above 5.1 inch calibre."

The cruiser category is divided into two sub-categories mainly, those carrying guns above 6.1 inch calibre and to those with guns below that size respectively.

Destroyers are defined as "surface vessels, the standard displacement of which does not exceed 1,850 tons with guns not above 5.1 inch calibre."

The total tonnage in the cruiser, destroyer and submarines categories which are not to be exceeded on Dec. 31, 1936, are given in Article 16, thus:

Cruisers with guns above 6.1 inch calibre are:

The United States, 150,000 tons.

Great Britain, 145,000 tons.

his primary campaign and expect to win against a Democratic wet later on. Hence the assumption is that he will steer a middle-of-the-road course.

The speech of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, broadcast from London, has caused a good deal of talk here, for it means that the Arkansas senator was by no means a rubber stamp at the London conference but played a conspicuous part in framing the treaty. His championship will assure a third vote, even allowing for certain defections inside the Republican ranks among the irreconcilables.

The wisdom of President Hoover in asking Mr. Robinson to serve will be vindicated when the ratification comes. Senator Borah of Idaho is quoted as saying that the treaties will be adopted in a fortnight after they are submitted. Mr. Robinson's address indicating that while the treaties are not all that had been hoped for, they nevertheless accomplish a great deal, is accepted here as removing the possibility of any organized partisan attack. The big navy men may find technical reasons for opposing the treaty but the opposition in the last analysis is not expected to be more than a handful.

SENATE PART IMPORTANT
Respect for the part that the United States senate plays nowadays in international affairs is increasing throughout the world and while very little attention was paid at the outset to the fact that two United States senators sat on the delegation, it has made a profound impression on the senate itself. Also, with the appointment of Dwight Morrow to the United States senate, the treaty will have three friends in whose judgment members of the senate will have confidence because they can talk about it on the floor of the sen-

Write To Editor And Tell Him How You Are Earning Graduation Trip Money

How are you earning your $25 to go along with the other graduates of Outagamie-co rural and parochial schools on their commencement trip to Washington, D. C., next June?

Write a letter to the contest editor of the Post-Crescent and tell him how you are doing it. If the idea is original, clever and practical then the Appleton Post-Crescent will award you a prize of 50 cents.

Here is an easy way to acquire another half dollar for your commencement trip fund. This contest, started seven weeks ago, is to run for five weeks more. Prize winners are announced every Friday. Drop a post card or letter to the contest editor today.

Today the contest editor received a letter from a little boy who is attending a rural school in the town of Maple Creek. He said: "I read about one of the students suggesting that we should sell dandelion greens. I have tried this and found that I have no trouble at all selling these greens. I thought this was such a good way to earn money and I wanted to thank the boy who suggested it. (It was Wayne Kennedy of the Countryside school at Shiloh, who has been a consistent prize winner in this contest.) Enclosed you will also find some other ideas which I am using to earn money."

The contest editor welcomes letters of this kind from the contestants. When you send you ideas to be made in its own tonnage within one or more of the categories of such vessels, specifying particularly the proposed increases and reasons therefore and shall be entitled to make such an increase.

PROVIDES "SAFETY"
Thereupon the parties to part three shall be entitled to make a proportionate increase and the said other parties shall promptly advise through diplomatic channels as to the situation thus presented.

The fourth chapter of the treaty deals with submarines, and contains a single article, Number 22. This article propounds the doctrine of "humanization" of submarine warfare and says that the following are accepted as established rules of international law:

"First, in their action with regard to merchant ships, submarines must conform to rules of international law to which surface vessels are subject; second, in particular, except in case of persistent refusal to stop on being duly summoned, or of active resistance to visits and search, a warship, whether surface vessel or submarine, may not sink or render incapable of navigation a merchant vessel without having first placed passengers and crew, and ship's papers in a place of safety."

"For this purpose a ship's boats are not regarded as a place of safety, unless the safety of passengers and crew is assured in the existing sea and weather conditions by the proximity of land or the presence of another vessel which is in the position to take them aboard. The high contracting parties invite all other powers to express consent to the above rules."

DURATION OF TREATY
The fifth and last part of the treaty deals with its duration and its ratification. Its first clause, Article 23, specifies Dec. 31, 1936, as the terminal date, except that part four shall remain operative without the time limit, and that Articles 3, 4, 5, 11, and the annex relating to aircraft carriers shall be effective for the same period as the Washington treaty.

The article further states that unless the parties agree otherwise by reason of a more general agreement limiting naval armaments to which they are all parties, they shall meet again in 1935 to frame a new treaty. Ratification is decreed by Article 24 to be in accordance with the respective constitutional methods of the signatories, the ratifications to be deposited in London as soon as possible. The treaty will come into force when the last of these ratifications has been deposited.

The rights and obligations of part three are limited to the United States, Great Britain and Japan, who will

Japan, 108,400 tons.
Cruisers with guns of 6.1 or less inch calibre:
The United States, 143,500 tons.
Great Britain, 132,200 tons.
Japan, 100,450 tons.
Destroyer tonnages are set at:
The United States, 130,000 tons.
Great Britain, 150,000 tons.
Japan, 105,500 tons.
Submarine tonnage of each power is set at 52,700 tons. Vessels which cause the total tonnage of any category to exceed the foregoing are to be disposed of gradually before Dec. 31, 1936.

CRUISERS MAXIMUM
The maximum number of cruisers in the first sub-category, in which the gun may exceed 6.1 inch calibre, shall be:
The United States, 18.
Great Britain, 15.
Japan, 12.

In the destroyer category not more than 16 per cent of the total tonnage is to be employed in vessels of over 1,500 tons. Destroyers completed or under construction April 1 this year in excess of this percentage may be retained but no other destroyers exceeding 1,500 tons shall be acquired until the reduction to 16 per cent is effected.

Not more than 25 per cent of the total cruiser tonnage may be fitted with aircraft decks.

Article 17 allows the transfer of tonnage between cruisers of the second sub-category and destroyers. But this is not to exceed 10 per cent of the category into which the transfer is made.

It is stated in Article 15 that the United States contemplates completion by 1935 of 15 cruisers of the first sub-category of an aggregate tonnage of 150,000. For each of the three remaining cruisers in this sub-category, the United States may substitute 15,166 tons of cruisers in the second sub-category.

CONSTRUCTION OF CRUISERS
In the event the United States constructs one or more such cruisers, the sixteenth unit will not be laid down before 1933 or completed before 1936, the seventeenth will not be completed before 1937; the eighteenth will not be laid until after that time. Article 15 deals with laying down tonnage in the different categories while Article 20 deals with disposal and replacement of certain British and Japanese vessels, and grants Japan the right to anticipate replacement by laying down 12,200 tons of submarines of which not more than 12,000 tons are to be completed before Dec. 31, 1936.

Article 21 contains the safeguarding clause, which, while it does not mention specially France and Italy, was inserted to protect Great Britain against a continental building program involving those two powers.

The clause states: "If, during the term of the present treaty the requirements of national security of any high contracting party, in respect to vessels of war limited by part three of this treaty are, in the opinion of that party materially affected by new construction of any power other than those who have joined in part three of this treaty, that party will notify the other parties to part three as to the increase required don't hesitate to let him know whether the ideas that have already been published have helped you to earn money. And also tell him how far along that graduation fund is coming. He is interested in this trip as well as you are and he welcomes letters from the graduates.

agree respecting the date and conditions under which the obligations of that part will bind them in relation to France and Italy, such agreement determining the obligation of France and Italy to the other three.

According to Article 25, after all ratifications have been deposited Great Britain will communicate part four to all non-signatory powers, inviting them to accede to it, this being the section relating to humanization of submarines.

The present treaty, in accordance with Article 26, will be in the keeping of the British government, certified copies to be transmitted to the other signatories.

TRIED TO SET RATIO
Under the Washington arms conference agreement a ratio for large warcraft was agreed upon as follows: England, 5; United States, 5; Japan, 3; France and Italy, 1.67. The London conference sought to establish a similar agreement on a definite ratio for the smaller types of warships.

The London treaty incorporates a limited five-power agreement for the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy and a full three-power agreement for the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

France and Italy signed sections salvaging valuable points solved at the London conference, such as humanization of submarine warfare, definition of special ships, and a compromise between the global (complete naval tonnage) and category (tonnage listed separately by classes) such as battleships, cruisers, etc., methods of classifying naval strength.

The American-British-Japanese accord is a complete limitation agreement running until 1935, with the allocation of ships by classes definitely stated.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY
J. Raymond Walsh, former Appleton high school instructor, has recently received a scholarship of $750 in the graduate school of economics at Harvard university.

Mr. Walsh taught economics and sociology at the Appleton high school for three years. He ranked second highest at Harvard in scholarship in his class.

Besides his graduate work Mr. Walsh sings regularly at the Park st church in Boston as a baritone soloist. Last year he took part in the production of "The Consul" by Gounod which was presented by the Schola Cantorum of Lawrence college.

POLICE RECOVER CAR STOLEN SUNDAY NIGHT
A Chrysler coach, owned by Herman Schultz, Caroline, and stolen Sunday night from W. Harniss near Onondaga, was recovered Monday by Serg. John Duval and Officer Albert Deltgen at 525 W. Lawrence st, where it had been abandoned. The machine had not been damaged. It was to be turned over to the owner Tuesday.

Many peace loving people would like to have seen more emphasis at the London conference.

ate with an actual knowledge first-hand of the negotiations.

President Harding pursued somewhat the same course when he appointed Senator Oscar Underwood the Democratic leader as a member of the American delegation to the Washington conference and Mr. Underwood had very little difficulty in lining up his party behind the treaty. Members of the United States senate are likely to become even more actively engaged in the negotiation of treaties in the future than in the past, for in these days of partisan division a two-third vote cannot be assured except by non-partisan handling.

One hundred and forty guests, all relatives, recently attended a wedding near Paola, Kans.

BOARD OF HEALTH NAMED BY NEENAH COMMON COUNCIL

Three Citizens at Large Are Made Members of Organization

Neenah—A board of health, composed of one member of the city council, three citizens at large and the health officer was elected Monday evening at the mid-month session of the council. Alderman Mrs. Helen K. Stuart was selected as the council member, Mrs. Hugh Roberts, Orrin Thompson and Miss Julia Sorenson are the citizen members, and Dr. M. M. Pitz is the health officer. This membership plan was suggested by Mayor George E. Sando. The former board was composed entirely of city officials.

Guy Werner of Appleton, connected with the Wisconsin Magazine publication asked that $150 be appropriated by the city for a page to be devoted exclusively to the city of Neenah and its environs. No action was taken on the proposal. The city of Neenah will be discussed in the May issue Mr. Werner reported.

The bid of the Standard Oil company for four and six-eighths cents a gallon for road oil was recommended for acceptance by the committee on streets, highways and bridges, it being the lowest of three bids submitted. Bids were presented by property owners on Sixth-st. between Hewitt and Green-st. asking for a walk, and from the Twin City committee for Memorial Day observance asking for an appropriation of $150. Both were approved. Resolutions for issuance of special improvement bonds for permanent improvement of Oak and Elm-sts from Wisconsin-ave. to Lowden-ld and the widening of Wisconsin-ave from the Soo line tracks to the west side of Harrison-st. were passed. A resolution to widen and improve Wisconsin-ave from Harrison-st. to the west city limits was passed and with this resolution another resolution for installing water, gas and sewer connections on the street was passed.

OPPOSE DUMPING GROUNDS
Alderman Robert Marten again objected to the dumping grounds on the Kimberly addition in the Fourth ward. His objections were supported by Arthur Sawyer, property owner in that vicinity. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Plans for operating the Ashkosh-Neenah bus line over the cemetery during the summer were discussed and authority given the clerk to notify the company of the council's wish. Alderman William Schmidt suggested that the city's parks be put in shape for the summer. The park board will be notified at once.

Alleys are to be inspected immediately at the conclusion of the annual clean-up which started Tuesday. All unclean places will be investigated, according to Alderman Robert Marten, member of the police and health committee.

Persons dumping rubbish and garbage outside of dumping grounds maintained by the city west of the city limits will be arrested, it was reported. It was reported that people are ignoring the one-way traffic regulations on Green-st. at the rear of the Presbyterian church. It was suggested that "stop" signs be erected. The finance committee reported bills totaling $26,016.44, including cemetery perpetual care bonds of $20,000 which were authorized and paid. The committee on parks and public buildings reported it had visited several Wisconsin cities in an effort to select new furniture for the council chamber. Furniture will arrive here within the next few days, according to the committee.

HI SCHOOL TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO MANITOWOC

Neenah—The high school tennis squad was defeated Monday afternoon by the Manitowoc school squad, 8 to 3 in matches played at the Doty Tennis club courts. HIGH SCHOOL IN FORENSIC LEAGUE

Menasha and Kaukauna Schools Placed in Same District

Neenah—The high school recently became affiliated with the Wisconsin High School Forensic league and has been placed with district No. 4 with Menasha and Kaukauna. The first tilt will be held at Kaukauna Thursday afternoon and evening. The contest will feature extemporaneous speaking, reading, oratory, declamation and dramatics.

The first two place winners will then compete at Neenah on the afternoon and evening of May 1 in a sub-district meeting. The winners here will go to Madison to take part in the state meet late in May. The local teams will be selected within the next few days. It is expected that among other contests, the cast which presented "The Valiant" a few weeks ago will repeat it.

The high school and Junior bands, composed of 75 members, will be to Two Rivers Saturday to take part in the Northeastern Wisconsin Interscholastic conference band festival. Contests will be conducted during the day, ending in a parade and luncheon, the latter to be given by the Two Rivers high school.

A group of Girl Reserve members conducted a fashion show Tuesday morning during the activity period at the high school. Many pretty dresses constructed of many colored crepe papers were seen on the live models which passed in review before the student body in the auditorium.

On Wednesday morning, during the activity period, Carl Haugen of Appleton will give a talk on aviation.

THINK POPULATION AT LEAST 10,000

Census Enumerators Will Complete Work in City in Few Days

Menasha—The population of Menasha will reach at least 10,000 when census enumerators complete their work within the next few days, reports brought into the city offices indicate. The only official report received thus far was on the population of the Fourth ward, which totals 1,987 people.

It is expected the count in the Second and Fifth wards will be well over 2,000 or 2,500, and that in the First and Third wards the count will be approximately 1,500 to 1,800, according to the reports.

The industrial census has been completed and enumerators report that cooperation received from local manufacturers was splendid. They experienced little difficulty in obtaining the information requested.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—The Young Ladies of St. Mary's Parish held a card party in St. Mary's school Monday afternoon and evening. Bridge, whist, and schafskopf were played and luncheon was served.

Announcement has been received here of the approaching marriage of Miss Elaine Ziebell, former teacher in the English department of Menasha, high school, and George Schutt, which is to take place at 4 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at Epiphany church, Milwaukee.

Miss Ziebell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ziebell of Neenah, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin at present is in charge of education at Glen Lake sanatorium, Minneapolis.

Mr. Schutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Schutt, Kandallville, Ind., is a graduate of the law school of the University of Wisconsin.

HILL TAKES LEAD IN EAGLES PLAY

Three-act Comedy Will Be Presented in Menasha May 1, 2

Menasha—G. K. Hill, will assume the character of Aunt Lucia in the three-act comedy by that name to be presented at the Brin Theatre May 1 and 2. The production is under auspices of the Menasha Legion Eagles drum corps, and includes in its cast about 150 Menasha people. Hill will take the part of a college boy Jerry Watson, who dresses in an old lady's outfit for the fun of it, his fraternity brothers, and is mistaken by an old professor for Lucia Wakefield, an old maid reputed to be worth $50,000.00. At one point he is the hard boiled football player, and the next a fickle old maid playing up to her many suitors. A capable cast supports the lead.

In addition to the play, many specialty numbers will be presented, including a glee club of 25 men who will sing several college melodies. The biggest feature of the evening will be a men's flapper chorus composed of 30 of Menasha's business men.

RESERVE OFFICERS TO MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Menasha—Jamor C. P. Evers, regular army officer stationed at Green Bay on organized reserve duty, will be the principal speaker at a dinner to be given by the newly organized Neenah-Menasha chapter, Reserve Officers' association of the United States at Valley Inn, Neenah, at 6:30 Wednesday evening. Officers for the coming year are to be elected and plans for the summer months discussed.

The local chapter, organized for slightly over a month, is now composed of 19 active members, who hold commissions in the organized reserve or the Wisconsin National guard.

MENASHA PERSONALS

Menasha—Frank Kelley, Clintonville, spent Monday in this city. John Armstrong, Manawa, spent Monday here.

Levi Larsen, Clintonville, was in this city Monday afternoon. Robert and Miss Lucille Vogel-sang, Chicago, spent the weekend here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pierce.

Mrs. John De Caro and William Egan of this city have been called to Chicago, due to the serious illness of their sister, Miss Anna Egan. Ervin and Eleanor Zongler have returned to Chicago after spending their Easter vacation visiting with their sister, Mrs. Al Bayer, Second-st., Menasha.

Walter Pierce, son of Postmaster and Mrs. W. H. Pierce, returned to Chicago Monday after spending the weekend in Menasha with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Detroit, Mich., are visiting the former's father, Joseph Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Messman visited in Milwaukee Monday afternoon. The condition of Joseph Weber, manager of the Weber Clothing company, who has been seriously ill for the past few months was said to be somewhat improved Tuesday, according to attending physicians.

CENTRAL COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA WILL SHOW HERE AGAIN

Ticket Sale Under American Legion Direction Begins April 28

The first step in bringing back to Appleton the Central community Chautauqua which appeared here last summer under auspices of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion was taken a few days ago when Miss Maude Mason, supervisor and field manager for the organization, conferred with officers of the post. The legion voted last summer to have the chautauqua show here again this season.

A limited number of seats will be sold for each performance because of the chautauqua's limited tent and seating accommodations. A thousand tickets will be offered for sale, 400 already having been sold. The campaign to dispose of the remainder of the tickets will begin Monday, April 29, with a selected group of legionnaires in charge. The price of the tickets will be $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Among the numbers on the program submitted to the legion board directing the activity, are the Olive Kackley players who this year will present Fred Ballard's new comedy "Back Home and How." The company also will present Channing Pollock's masterpiece "The Enemy" which is generally conceded to be one of his best.

The International Concert and Opera company headed by Alexius Baas, internationally known baritone is another feature of the program being brought here. Baas has won national fame as a baritone soloist in church circles. He was with the American church of Berlin, Germany, soloist of the First Presbyterian church of Seattle, and several large midwestern churches, he also was soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for two years, and has marked ability as an actor as well as a singer. His dramatic work has largely been in Shakespearean roles during which time he was with the Ben Greel Players.

The Dixie Merry-makers, a group of young ladies presenting a novelty instrument program, are a third feature of the program. The xylophone, piano, piano accordion, flute, violin, banjo, and cello feature in their numbers with several dances and chorus singing.

A junior chautauqua demonstration will again take up one afternoon's activity, Appleton children being asked to take part in a program to be planned and directed by a specially trained junior chautauqua director.

CALLAHAN ENDORSES TUBERCULOSIS DRIVE

Madison —(P)—One child in every 20 becomes infected with tuberculosis germs, according to John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, who today endorsed the campaign of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

"By taking proper precautions in early childhood, it is not only possible to detect, but also to prevent this infection," Mr. Callahan said in urging the examination of all children.

"All school children should have a regular examination by a doctor, especially those who have been in contact with tuberculosis cases," the state superintendent said.

STATE RENTS HENS TO HATCH OUT PHEASANTS

Madison —(P)—Some 1800 hens have been rented by the state of Wisconsin to become stepmothers to approximately 15,000 pheasants this year.

The chickens, rented through F. X. Ritter, state purchasing agent, will be used by the state conservation commission in hatching pheasant eggs at the Fish Creek wild game refuge.

In past years the state has purchased hens for this use but this year a saving of 50 per cent is hoped for by renting the chickens for three or four weeks.

CONSERVATIVE GROUP TO PRESENT PROGRAM

In addition to the presentation of the opera "Samson and Delilah" at the annual May music festival here May 2, 3 and 4 a program will be presented by the Lawrence conservatory symphony orchestra, assisted by the A Capella choir, on the evening of May 4.

The orchestra, which is under the direction of Percy Fullinwider, professor of violin at Lawrence conservatory of music, will present a symphony concert consistent with the excellent reputation it has established for itself with Appleton music lovers.

The A Capella choir, an organization of 50 voices, directed by Carl J. Waterman, dean of the Lawrence conservatory, will sing a number of noted compositions specially arranged for unaccompanied singing.

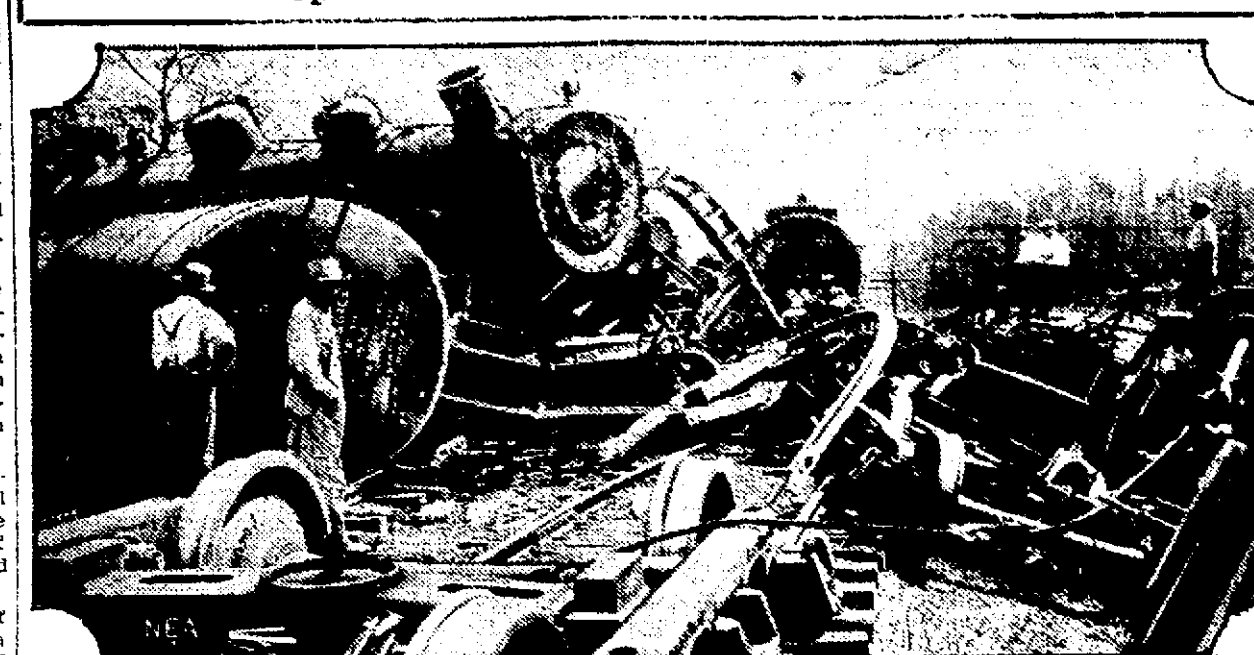

Rehearsals for the presentation of these musical treats have been in progress for several months now and according to the report of those in charge the outlook promises as excellent a program in every detail as has been presented heretofore.

Two years ago the Minneapolis symphony orchestra and the Schola Cantorum were merged under the direction of Dean Waterman in a presentation of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," and Coleridge Taylor's "Hiawatha." Last year the schola cantorum gave the first concert version of the opera "Faust," by Gounod, sung in Appleton. So much interest was evinced at this presentation that it was decided to present Saint Saen's "Samson and Delilah" this year on May 2.

PRISONER OF WAR GETS HOME AFTER YEARS IN RUSSIA

August Lorenzi Captured by Russians in 1914; Is Now Italian

Trento, Italy—(P)—From the little village of Campi near here, August Lorenzi, 38, departed 15 years ago as an Austrian soldier to fight the Russians. He has just now returned after ten years of hardships to find himself an Italian citizen, because his village, by the fortunes of war, became Italian.

Lorenzi was captured by the Russians in 1914. He was sent to Semipalatinsk, then to Tomsk, Samara, Yambou and Gorod. He was made to cut down trees until the work broke his health.

Then he was farmed out to a crier, with whom he was working at the time of the revolution in 1917. The Bolsheviks sacked the town and burned the mill. Lorenzi fled at night.

He passed several years of intense misery until in 1921 he became a team hand. It was not until the following year he was able to send a letter to his relatives in Campi. He did not then know that the War was over.

The next year, despairing of ever being able to leave Russia, he married the daughter of a farmer. In 1926 the authorities here, through the Italian ambassador at Moscow, began to exert influence to allow him to return. But the Soviet government, because he had married a Russian, withheld his passport for four years. At last they let him go with only eight dollars and a few articles of clothing.

Beauty of line and mechanical excellence

BEAUTY has been built into the graceful flowing lines of the new Ford and there is an appealing charm in its fresh and varied harmony of color. Yet more distinctive even than this beauty of line and color is its alert and sprightly performance.

As days go by you will find that it becomes more and more your favorite car to drive—so responsive, so easy to handle, so safe and comfortable that it puts a new joy in motoring.

The city dweller—the farmer—the industrial worker—the owner of the spacious two-car garage in the suburbs—to all of these it brings a new measure of reliable, economical service.

Craftsmanship has been put into mass production. Today, more than ever, the new Ford is "a value far above the price."

Grid Situation At Wisconsin Seems To Be Improved

RENEWED INTEREST EVIDENT IN LAST WEEK'S WORKOUTS

Kranhold, Appleton, and Schneller, Neenah, Continue Good Work

MADISON—Hopes of Glena Thistlethwaite, head football coach, that the spring practice of the University of Wisconsin grid squad would pave more satisfactory after the spring vacation, have been at least partially realized in the four workouts held this week.

This was chiefly evident in the first scrimmage held last week when the men despite the handicap of a muddy field and treacherous footing, were able to put up a fight with an average daily turn out of about 60 candidates this week the coaches have been able to make substantial progress.

Perhaps the most significant move made by the coaches during the week was the shifting of Greg Kabat, husky sophomore graduate of Bay View high school, Milwaukee, from the backfield to the line. Kabat played fullback throughout his high school career and was used in the backfield of the fresh squad last fall. He weighs 185 pounds and is fast for his weight.

The shift which put Kabat at tackle on one of the spring squads Thursday was regarded as important since it indicates Coach Thistlethwaite's determination to stress speed in his forwards next fall. In the offense on which the Badger coach is now drilling his team, three linemen who can head interference are needed. One difficulty encountered in developing the attack last fall was the lack of forwards who could drop out of the line to head interference effectively.

Coach Thistlethwaite realizes now, apparently, that he is likely to find a comparatively light line next fall so he is keenly intent upon finding some speedy, aggressive forwards who can function smoothly in the attack. For this reason, he is giving much attention to the development in interfering guards and tackles.

KRANHOLD LOOKS GOOD

In addition to Kabat, two other line candidates have looked good in the week's workouts. They are Harvey Kranhold of Appleton and Frank (Moon) Molnar of Kenosha.

Kranhold, a member of last fall's fresh squad while Molnar, a sophomore, was moved up from the "E" team last fall and gained a few minutes of varsity experience at tackle in the final games of the season.

Line candidates who won a word of favorable comment from line coach "Stat" Thistlethwaite for their play in scrimmage were Kabat, Edwards and Fouts, guards, and Dolestein, Rosenbaum and Bratton, tackles. Rosenbaum looked especially good on defense, showing a world of aggressiveness which enabled him repeatedly to break through and tackle runners for losses.

End Coach Campbell Dickson has about a dozen candidates for wing jobs, some of whom show considerable promise. Pollock, Lovshin, Thurner and Engleke received considerable attention and looked good in defense. Engleke, former La Crosse high school player, was out for the varsity in 1928, at which time he was considered promising.

Many of the varsity men are on other spring teams now but of last fall's letter men Captain Milt Gantenbein and George Casey, ends, Dave Tobias and Hal Smith, tackles, "Moose" Kruger, center, Herman McKaskle, guard and Russ Rebolz and Neil Hayes, backs, are practicing daily with the spring football squad.

In last week's scrimmage the best looking backfield combination had James Uhli of Chicago, a freshman, at quarterback, Russ Rebolz, and "Buckets" Goldenberg, halfbacks, and John Schneller, frosh captain last fall, at fullback.

VIKE GRID SQUAD LOSES 2 VETERANS

Paul Miller Leaves School, Amundson Won't Return in the Fall

Coach of a college football squad has already turned out to be some thing to make a man's hair turn grey. Coach Eddie Kotal of Lawrence college has found last week Kotal lost two linemen, both veterans, and one probably the outstanding center in the entire state.

Failure of a bank at Pennington was taken over by the other bank in that city, has made a job for Paul Miller varsity center last year, and he has taken it. Miller's father now is president of the two banks.

An accident at Rice Lake in which Rob Amundson's father and a brother were killed will keep Amundson out of school next fall. He had been counted upon to play guard on the varsity next fall.

8 NET BALL TEAMS ENTER STATE MEET

GARNERA BARRED IN CALIFORNIA

Purses Are Returned to Fighters by Coast Athletic Commission

San Francisco —(AP)—By a drastic ruling of the California Athletic Commission, Primo Carnera, gigantic Italian boxer, today stood barred from rings of the state, the result of the unsatisfactory ending of his recent bout with Leon Chevalier, San Francisco Negro.

The commission also revoked the boxing license of Carnera, together with that of his manager, Leon Saez, of France.

Purses of Carnera and Chevalier were ordered returned to the fighters, however, the commission holding that they were blameless for the bout being stopped in the sixth round when one of Chevalier's seconds tossed a towel into the ring.

Four other men involved in the affair were given indefinite suspensions, they were Frank Chutichill, of Los Angeles, nationally known manager of boxers and Carnera's California representative Tim McGiath, San Francisco manager of Chevalier and the Negro's two seconds, Bob Laga, San Francisco, and Robert Peivy of Hollywood.

The Italian and his manager to day were at Portland, Ore., where Carnera fought Sam Baker, Los Angeles Negro, tonight.

LAWRENCE VARSITY, FROSH SQUADS MEET

Denney Pessimistic About Chances of Repeating at State Track Meet

A varsity freshman track meet Saturday afternoon is booked for Lawrence college track and field squad, according to Coach A. C. Denney. The meet will be the last practice session before the Vikes go into state competition against Ripon, Saturday, May 3, at Ripon.

Competition in Saturday's meet should be keen. The frosh have several youngsters who show promise of going places in track while the varsity does not look so good this year. Last week the freshmen won a meet from Shawano high school by an overwhelming score and the varsity remained idle.

Denney is far from optimistic about the Vike track squad this season. He believes the team will finish about third in the state meet at Waikeshi with Carroll first, and Ripon second.

ATLANTA CITIZENS FETE BOBBY JONES, GIVE HIM PRIZES

Emperor of the Links Leaves for British Open Meet, April 30

ATLANTA—(AP)—Bobby Jones tucked a new good luck piece from Atlanta friends across his waistcoat today and gave his favorite golf clubs a final polish for the British trip that will inaugurate one of the most ambitious tournament programs he has ever undertaken.

Some 200 admirers of the emperor of the links gathered at a farewell dinner last night. Eugene R. Dlack, governor of the federal reserve bank, who was toastmaster, presented Bobby with a watch chain to which was attached a representation of a four leaf clover.

Jones responded briefly to both presentations, remarking with a smile that his friends had been "very thoughtful" to arrange the dinner before the British trip rather than afterward.

Bobby will leave Atlanta Thursday night and sail from New York April 30 to participate in the Walker cup matches, the British open and the British amateur championships.

While in New York he will get in about ten days of practice with members of the Walker cup team, of which he is captain. Upon his return he will defend his open title and take part in the national amateur tournament. Miss Jones will accompany him to Europe.

If practice rounds mean anything to Bobby's pointing for the British amateur—the only major crown he has not won—has not been in vain. On the East Lake course here Sunday, he shot a 70, two under par. This was his sixth consecutive round of sub-par golf.

What the Stars Did Yesterday

Del Disonette, Robins—Hit single, triple and homer to drive in seven runs as Robins beat Braves, 8-6. Hall Carlson, Cubs—Pitched Cubs to 9-1 victory over Reds, allowing only five hits.

Travis Johnson, Giants—Smashed out two home runs, drove in four runs, to help Giants whip Phils, 8-6.

Living Haddley, Senators—Scattered Athletics' eight hits and gave them first defeat, 6-4.

Red Lyons, White Sox—Held Browns to five hits in 10 innings and tripled to start rally that won game, 3-2.

Clint Brown, Indians—Held Tigers to five hits as Indians won, 6-3.

Louisville, Ky.—Jack McCarthy, Chicago, outplayed Elmer Beznaah, Cincinnati, 10-0.

FORDS HOLD FIRST PRACTICE TONIGHT

Kotal and Smith Order Baseball Team Out for Workouts Despite Cold

Despite the almost winter weather, Auggie Brandt's Fords, as the Appleton baseball club is known, will start workouts Tuesday night at Brandt park.

Word that practice would start immediately and that a couple of practice games would be scheduled was handed on Tuesday morning by Eddie Kotal who with Len Smith will manage the club this season.

Tuesday's workout is scheduled to begin about 5.30 and if the boys don't need overcoats and gloves on both hands, will last about an hour and a half.

Indications are all the chaps who played on the team last season and a couple of others who think they can make the grade will be out before the end of the week is over. Practices will continue all week and all of next week Kotal intimated.

VIKES COMPETE IN HANDBALL DOUBLES

Thirty two players panned in 16 teams have entered the handball doubles tournament of Lawrence college, play in which began a few days ago. The Vikings recently completed a singles tourney in which 64 men competed. Carl Scheibler, Appleton, won the championship.

Steel Shafted Clubs Hard To Use First Few Rounds

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS Copyright 1930

CHICAGO—(CMA)—Golfers who have equipped themselves with steel shafted clubs for the current season should not be dismayed if, for several rounds, they find difficulty in controlling the ball with the same facility they possessed when swinging the sturdy, old fashioned hickory weapons. That is the opinion of a very well known professional and is passed along for whatever it may be worth.

Our informant says that because the steel shafts are thinner than hickory there is a reduced wind resistance and the speed of the swing, is automatically rendered too fast. It should take about three rounds, he believes, for the player having his first experience with steel to acquire the rhythm required for the proper handling of the shafts.

But in the end the temporary inconvenience is amply repaid by the added pleasure derived from the game. "I help converts to steel," he advises "swing easily both ways."

It is claimed that steel shafts, because of the decreased wind resistance, enable the player to attain greater power with less effort and overcomes the temptation to press. That is a particular advantage to an elderly player or one of slight physique and even to well known stars over a thirty six hole grind.

The steel shafted clubs have so little tuition that the twist is negligible. In a hickory shafted club a twist is imparted to the head every time a shot is made and the closer the shot is made to the toe or heel of the club the greater the amount of torque. This makes it possible to attain greater accuracy with a steel shafted club and shots can be played to the green with more confidence.

Players who have used steel for several years could not, for any reason, be persuaded to return to the wood. Horton Smith's experience in Great Britain, last year, is typical of the fondness users of steel have for that sort of shafts. When forced to change from steel to wood in the British open, the Joplin jigger played anything but his usual golf. Then, a few days later, when he visited France and was permitted his favorite set of clubs he set the courses on fire.

The golfer, new or old, should pay particular attention to the purchase of his clubs and secure the best possible advice when obtaining new ones. Items of importance in the selection of clubs are Length and stiffness of shaft, thickness of grip, loft of clubs and suitable design and weight. It is better to have clubs a little light than too heavy for when clubs are overweighted they can come a burden to the player who gets in only one or two rounds a week.

EXPECT SELLOUT FOR AMATEUR BOUTS

Oshkosh, Green Bay Fans Flock Here to Watch Ahl and Hundermark

Appleton fight fans will gather tonight at Alimony G to see what kind of bouts Olney Johnston top of the American legion has on tap for the regular monthly boxing show. The fights are to begin at 8.30.

Headlining the card tonight will be the Hans Ahl-Billy Hundermark fight for what might rightly be called the state amateur championship at 140 pounds or thereabouts. The two boys have met before, Hundermark letting the nod.

Tuesday's bout, because the boys are from Oshkosh and Green Bay, is expected to attract a great number of outsiders. Backers of the two chaps, in other words indications are a sell out will be in order.

Five other bouts, two of them featuring Appleton boys also are scheduled. The two Appleton youngsters are making their first appearance in the ring.

BATTERS HAVE DAY IN MAJORS AS THEY COLLECT 90 HITS

Philadelphia Athletics Lose First Game of Year to Washington

BY HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer PITCHERS have been grabbing the headlines so often this baseball season that National league batsmen have found it necessary to take them down a peg or two.

Wearily apparently of reading accounts of two and three-hit games, batters in the four games of the old circuit yesterday grasped their pludgions firmly, took a toe-hold and blasted out ninety safe hits, nine of them home runs.

The day's batting honors went to the New York Giants who smashed out 14 safeties including four for the circuit to beat the Phils, 8-6, and chalk up their fourth successive win without a defeat. Travis Jackson, Giant shortstop, hit twice for the circuit and Fred Leach and Bob O'Farrell each contributed one homer to the common cause.

Wilson, Hartnett and Beck hit homers as the Chicago Cubs whipped Cincinnati, 9 to 1. The Cubs collected 14 safe hits off four Red pitchers while Hal Carlson set down the enemy with five.

ROBINS COP 15-8 Del Bissonette was the big noise in a 16-hit attack the Brooklyn Robins launched against the Braves to win, 15-8. Bissonette drove in seven runs with a homer, triple and single. His homer and triple each came with the bases filled. Adolfo Luque pitched steady ball for the Robins but had to retire in the ninth when a line drive from Sisti's bat hurt his pitching hand. The Braves got 13 hits.

In the other National league fray, the Pittsburgh Pirates made good use of their seven hits to beat St. Louis, 6-4.

Pitchers dominated the American league games. Irving (Bumps) Haden of the Washington Senators, as too much for the Philadelphia Athletics and the A's went down to their first defeat of the season, 6-2. Clint Brown, rookie pitcher, held the Detroit Tigers to five hits and Cleveland won without trouble, 6-1. The Indians batted around in the first inning scoring four runs on five hits.

Ted Lyons was the whole show as the Chicago White Sox nosed out St. Louis, 3-2, in ten innings. Lyons held the Browns to five hits and scored the winning run in the tenth when he tripled and came home on Ernie Smith's single.

SANGOR LOSES IN COMEBACK ATTEMPT

Joey a Pitiful Picture as He Tries to Fight Eddie Anderson

Millwaukee (UP)—Showing none of the prophesied punch, Joey Sangor, Milwaukee, last night lost a feeble attempt at a second "comeback" moving slowly, about the ring in a listless 10-round bout heading the Auditorium fight card. Joey lost the decision to "cowboy" Eddie Anderson of Chicago.

From the start, the fight was Anderson's. Anderson played about the ring in evident attempt to give the fans a fight for their money. But Joey, who was willing couldn't hit the pace of former years. Not undaunted by the referee's decision, Lou Sangor, ambitious brother of the wobbling Joey, announced Joey would continue in the ring. Joey weighed in at 130½ pounds and Anderson at 132.

While slipped to an inferior position on the card, the Mitsu Minkiel-King Levinsky battle revived fans into the belief that slugging days are not over. Mitsu was floored twice in the first round as the King's 174½ pounds of punches hit where wallops counted. Again in the third and sixth, Mitsu kissed the canvas. The King went down in the second round. After the fifth, Minkiel staged a comeback that won the decision. Mitsu weighed 173½. Franklin Cheek, Milwaukee, 124, lost the decision to Wilbur Chevalier, Bay City, Mich., 125½ in a 4-round fight; Mickey McFarland, Pueblo, Col. 161½ and Martin Frank, Milwaukee, 163½, battled to a four round draw. Billy Blake, Los Angeles, 156, beat Frankie Burns, Milwaukee, 146, in four rounds.

WILCEY MOORE IS ROBBED OF NO HIT GAME AGAINST HENS

Rosenfield, Toledo, Breaks Perfect Exhibition With 2 Hits

CHICAGO (UP)—But for Max Rosenfield, Toledo's righthanded pitcher, Wilcey Moore, of St. Paul and his "sinker ball" might be credited with a no-hit game.

The former New York Yankee star, after a year of voluntary retirement, is attempting a comeback, and his performance yesterday against the Mud Hens indicates he still has plenty left. The total damage of his sinker was a pair of singles by Rosenfield, St. Paul winning by a 4 to 1. His support was not too good, four errors being charged against the Saints. St. Paul bunched six of its nine singles for its tally.

Dixie Davis and George Murray held Louisville to five hits, but the Colonels nipped the champion Kansas City Blues, 2 to 1. Joe De Berry, veteran Louisville righthander kept the Blues' eight hits widely spaced, while the Colonels made four of their five count for runs. Davis gave four hits in six innings, and Murray was touched for only one during the last three. Davis was removed for a pinch batsman in the seventh when the Hens scored their only run and tried desperately to keep the rally alive.

Charlie High, Minneapolis outfielder, led the Millers to an 8 to 3 victory over Columbus in a slugfest. High hit safely five times in as many times at bat, and included his second home run of the series in his collection. Bernie Neis, Columbus outfielder, also obtained his second homer of the set. Although Van Alstyne was batted for 11 hits by the Senators, he never was in trouble, while the Millers hammered Frank Miller out of the picture with a four run rally in the fifth. Wyckoff finished in good style for Columbus. Newell Morse, Miller second baseman, turned in a fine fielding record, handling 13 chances without a boot.

Millwaukee and Indianapolis were paired out of business at Indianapolis.

Final games of the second series of the season were up for decision today. Tomorrow Minneapolis will go to Louisville, St. Paul will meet Indianapolis at Indianapolis, Kansas City will open at Toledo and Milwaukee.

ALEX SMITH, GOLF PRO, DIES MONDAY

Veteran Mentor Was Famous in His Day; Born in Scotland

New York (UP)—Golf has lost one of its finest teachers with the death in a Baltimore hospital of Alex Smith, great Scottish professional.

Although a great competitive player in his prime and twice winner of the national open championship, Smith's fame in recent years was on his ability to teach the game that won him fame. Pro at the Westchester country club for many years, Smith's pupils included Jerome D. Travers, four-times amateur champion, and Glenna Collett, four times women's champion.

Born in Carnoustie, Scotland, 52 years ago, Smith came to the United States in 1898 and was runner-up in the national open of that year. He was runner-up in the 1901 open, losing to Willie Anderson in a play-off and runner-up again in 1905. He finally won this event in 1906 with his brother, Willie Smith, second. In 1910 he won the title again at the expense of still another brother, MacDonald Smith.

Funeral services will be held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. C. Cary, at Rye tomorrow.

Millwaukee—Eddie Anderson, Chicago, outpointed Joey Sangor, Milwaukee, (10); Mitz Minkiel, Milwaukee, outpointed King Levinsky, Chicago, (10).

FIELDS WINS FROM GRACE IN THIRD

Preliminary Fight Between Two Heavyweights Steals K. C. Show

Kansas City (UP)—Jackie Fields of San Francisco, welterweight champion, sat firmly on his throne today, having clearly demonstrated his superiority here last night over Meyer Grace, of Philadelphia.

The champion knocked out the Philadelphia in the third round of a scheduled ten round bout. It was a non-title affair.

Grace laid the edge during the first two rounds, battling even more aggressively than the coast boxer. In the third round, however, the champion knocked his opponent down three times—the last time for the count.

Two preliminary fighters, Roy Jackson, former Western A. A. U. amateur champion, and Roy Pollock, an ex-miner heavyweight, stole the show, their ten round battle being the high point of the card. Jackson won by a knockout in the final round after being on the canvas three times in the seventh period.

Flint, Mich.—Harry Goldinsky, Chicago, stopped Herman Wallace, New York, (5).

An astounding new discovery that RIDS engine of CARBON by a simple Chemical Process

Pulling a button makes the injector system (right) spray Carbo-Solve into your engine automatically. As simple as that!

GUARANTEED Unreservedly by the makers of ALEMITE

Next morning and all day long as you drive your car the carbon deposits are blowing harmlessly out the exhaust!

REMOVING carbon with Carbo-Solve is simplicity itself. Just pull a button under your dash as you shut off your engine for the night. This automatically injects through the intake manifold into the engine. Next morning drive off. The carbon will blow harmlessly out the exhaust as you drive.

How Carbo-Solve Works

Of course there is nothing that dissolves carbon, but the binder that holds carbon to engine parts can be dissolved by Carbo-Solve—non-injurious to metal (it is put up in a tin can).

How Carbo-Solve Saves

Costing but $1.25 a can, Carbo-Solve saves old-time scraping or burning out of carbon—wear on engine parts—and eliminates carbon-knocks and over-heating.

How Carbo-Solve Serves

Used every 500 miles, Carbo-Solve will keep your engine always free of carbon so that it will always perform at top efficiency with full power, resiliency and the pep originally designed into it.

NEW YORK CITIES SCORED BY HULL IN HARBOR ATTACK

Selfishness Made Committee
Leave Out St. Lawrence
Project, He Claims

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington — The "selfishness of the cities of the State of New York" and lack of representation for the West on the Rivers and Harbors committee of the House of Representatives are assailed by Rep. Merlino Hull of Black River Falls as the reason for not including the St. Lawrence waterway project in the rivers and harbors bill.

Illinois and New York politicians "seems to be in accord in shelving consideration of the St. Lawrence," Rep. Hull said in pointing out that the rivers and harbors bill contains provision for taking over the old Erie and Oswego canals and deepening the Hudson river "so that New York may continue its toll on western products" and at the same time a $7,500,000 project for deepening the Illinois river to connect Chicago with the Mississippi river.

"The chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee," Rep. Hull continues, "is from New York (S. Wallace Dempsey) and has always opposed St. Lawrence opening. Of twenty members of that committee, New York has two, Illinois three, Ohio three, Pennsylvania two, Connecticut, New Jersey and Delaware, one each, a clear majority of eastern members. Then California, Texas, Alabama, Louisiana and Georgia, all states demanding a portion of the rivers and harbors 'pie,' have one each."

"Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, and the Dakotas, all of which have no other real waterway for bringing the ocean traffic nearer, are wholly unrepresented."

"Is it any wonder, then, that the route the northwest wants receives no consideration, while it is proposed to spend hundreds of millions of dollars on a route New York wants?" Rep. Hull says that it is hoped that enough western members will unite to block the scheme for taking over the New York canal, which he characterizes as "a narrow, shallow canal for towboats" of which New York State has long sought to rid itself. He adds, however, that there are so many minor projects of interest to so many different congressmen in the measure that the Erie canal scheme may be passed by "backscratching."

"The St. Lawrence waterway will wait—nobody knows how long—while little projects are united with the Erie canal scheme to help put it over," he complains.

"Eastern cities, eastern railways, eastern waterpower interests and the tollgatherers to whom the people of the northwest have long paid enormous tribute, fight our demands, and disregard even solemn campaign pledges for their own selfish purposes," Rep. Hull concludes.

Rep. Dehrand H. Snell of New York, chairman of the Rules committee of the House of Representatives, favors the St. Lawrence route and forecasts that even Buffalo's opposition to it will soon be overcome.

ROAD DELEGATES ARE INVITED TO WISCONSIN

Madison — (AP) — Delegates to the sixth international road congress to be held in Washington Oct. 6 to 10, who will make a visit of the west central states have been invited to Wisconsin by the state highway commission.

According to the announcement, after the convention which will attract 300 persons from 56 nations throughout the world, three tours are planned, one of which is the itinerary through the west central states.

The suggestion broached by the highway body is that after the delegates travel from Washington to Chicago by train, a bus trip should be made through Wisconsin en route to Duluth.

"Several routes have been suggested that will give the visitors an opportunity to view the construction problems that confronted the road building," the announcement will be prepared to give our distinguished visitors data containing detailed statements of costs of construction and maintenance of the several types of highways and bridges that will be visited on their tour."

New York — (CPA) — Fifth avenue's parade, as viewed from the sidelines by an observer busily taking notes, gives rise to the following pertinent paragraphs:

Almost any variety of colors, as well as of patterns, is to be found in the printed crepes this spring. But those colors considered smartest at the moment are the combinations of marine blue and white, good old beige with brown, black with white, and gray with other tones of gray relieved by a sprinkling of vivid pink, reds, oranges or blue flowers.

Apparently the big idea is that your costume may contain as many colors as you like, so long as shoes and handbag match. They are making pumps in eggshell kid, beautifully stitched, with handbags of eggshell kid in stitching that matches the shoes. This combination was also seen in such tones as leaf green and the delectable pirate blue.

Of exotic embroidery, of embroidered batiste or marquisette, of white georgette with colored dots, or of sturdy pique edged with fine lace—

CLOSE CLUB PROGRAM AT ROOSEVELT SCHOOL

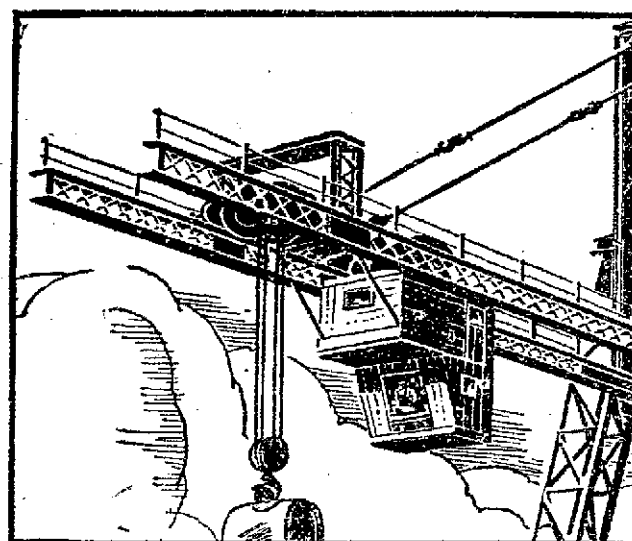

The club program at Roosevelt Junior High School has been closed for the year, but will reopen again next fall. With spring weather calling the students out-of-doors, it was felt advisable to eliminate this extra-the vestee is among the most versatile items of spring. It can make or unmake the spring suit. Sometimes it takes unto itself cap-sleeves plus a back and becomes a blouse, just like that.

Out of the welter of hats, brimmed and brimless, comes a bit of advice. Wear wide brims with chiffon dresses, especially when the dresses have capes; wear narrower brims with sports clothes; wear off-the-face, brimless hats with tailored suits—and you can't, as they say, go wrong.

Millions of handbags were toted up and down the avenue. Among them all none was more ladylike—and this is a ladylike era—than the handbag of black moire trimmed with beaufrais embroidery. Two large, embroidered roses, for instance in rather subdued shades, with lots and lots of dim green vines all over the front of the bag. Womanly as anything.

Carved beads seem to be a requisite for the spring costume. Sometimes they come in delicate tints, the necklaces all of one shade or made up in a combination of shades. But coral is among the smartest spring accessories; real coral or make-believe coral, intricately carved.

This is important to all COAL BUYERS

The opening of the North Western Fuel Company's Milwaukee sales office, together with the completion of its new coal handling plant, offers definite advantages to all coal buyers in this territory.

Chief of these is close access to a large supply of high grade coal for any industrial purpose, which is mined, prepared and sold by one great organization.

This means that any steam plant requiring a certain kind of coal can always order that same coal from the North Western Fuel Company—the Lake Sales Division of The Consolidation Coal Company with absolute assurance that quality and size will be uniform today, next month or next year.

OIL PRODUCERS IN U. S. SEE MENACE IN FOREIGN CRUDE

Independents Wage War on Low-priced South American Product

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two stories dealing with conditions in the United States' oil industry. The first article tells of the war that domestic producers are waging against increasing imports of South American crude.

By NEA Service
Tulsa, Okla.—In the eyes of the nation's 16,000 independent oil producers the oil producing industry in the United States is being menaced by a flood of low-priced South American oil.

Already, the price paid for mid-continent crude has been lowered to $1.20 a barrel which, the producers say, is one-third less than the actual cost of production and is largely attributable to such imports.

Department of Commerce agents say the possibilities of oil in South America are "practically unlimited." In the Venezuela field, 10 new pools are ready for development. One field alone is estimated to contain 1,600,000,000 barrels—more than is produced in the United States in one and a half years. And there are indications that this field may be three times larger than now believed.

A map of South America with proven and potential oil fields marked thereon shows these fields are producing at present only a tiny fraction of the whole. Those of Venezuela, which have hardly been tapped, are equaled in extent by those of Colombia, Ecuador and Peru, of Bolivia and exceeded by those of Argentina. Thus far no one has ventured to estimate the total.

200 WELLS, NO FAILURES

An oil geologist says that a single company down there has drilled 200 wells without a single failure. Down there, he says, "they have a different order of production costs entirely. It is almost the same as in Persia; they practically turn on a tap and get all the oil they want."

The South American oil problem is unlike the flood of Mexican oil of a few years ago. The latter was nearly all of low gravity, suitable only for fuel. The South American oil is of high gravity and eminently adapted for gasoline extraction.

Oil producers say refiners at Atlantic ports can get 100 gallons of this oil delivered to their tanks for about $2.50, and that their filling stations will retail the resultant gasoline for $6.80.

Foreign oil, the independent producers claim, has begun to force the issue. They cite that on Feb. 15 Standard Oil of New Jersey and two other largest purchasers in the mid-continent region posted notices that their price for crude would be reduced from $1.46 a barrel to $1.20.

Later, other important buyers made the same cut. It was said that American production was greatly exceeding demand, and that the cut in price was the only effective method of preventing "the glut."

PRODUCERS BLAME IMPORTS

Leaders among the independent producers, however, had a different explanation. They said it was due to the fact that the great refining companies wished to increase their importations of cheaper South American oil.

They assembled figures: In 1929, the United States furnished one billion, six million barrels. Domestic consumption was 929 million barrels, and exports amounted to 153 million barrels. This meant an excess of demand for home use and export over supply of some 80 million barrels. They said that an appearance of overproduction was caused by the importation of some 105 million barrels.

The independent oil operators were organized last year, following the oil conference called by President Hoover to meet at Colorado Springs. Their membership now numbers thousands from Montana to Louisiana. When the February cut in the price of crude was announced, there was agitation for a general meeting, and Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, called it.

1500 ATTEND MEETING

In January, about 1500 representatives of the independent operators met in a Tulsa hotel. The meeting was a tempest; what was said there about the big companies, the Standard group, the Mellon-controlled Gulf, the American Shell, the Texas, Sinclair, and others that are operating abroad, made the crystal chandeliers tinkle.

Franklin, in this first test of leadership of the independents, proved aggressive. He is not one of those threatened with extinction. At the age of 47, he is many times a millionaire, a heavy owner of acreage and production. Although a very rich operator, he retains a sympathetic understanding of the problems of the small producer.

One of the first proposals was for a tariff on imported oil. The Senate was then engaged in its debate of the tariff bill. The necessity for protection of small producers was emphasized.

SMALL WELLS HARD HIT

Franklin pointed out that in the United States are 250,000 wells that pump an average of one barrel a day; and there are 50,000 more whose daily average is only five barrels. These are old wells, most of them owned by former drillers or other oil field workers who have invested their small savings in the wells and the power plants required for pumping.

Often several of these old wells are linked to one pump. They can operate only at a loss with crude at $1.20 a barrel; and unless the flow of foreign crude is checked, he said, by adequate tariff charges, these thousands of really small operators must quit.

They took up the conservation argument, that every barrel imported will save a barrel of American oil. But what of the 500,000 barrels a year that come out of these little old wells? When their pumpers have to quit, they will pull the casings, remove the power stations,

Cable Companies In China Threatened By Government

Nanking —(AP)—Existence of cable companies operating in China is being threatened by the national government and radio.

In an article published in the Central Daily News, Nanking's official mouthpiece, Chuan Chi-Huan, director general of the government's telegraph and telephone system, stated that the ministry of communications had decided not to renew its contract with the cable companies which are scheduled to expire this year.

Two companies, the Great Northern Telegraph company and the Eastern Extension Cable company, constituting the most important units of the so-called British-Danish cable trust, have protested to the ministry of communications, claiming that the privileges they now enjoy were granted by the Manchurian government and hence must be regarded as irrevocable.

The government has taken the stand that nothing the Manchurian government may have done can be considered irrevocable because the Manchus no longer exist in an official way.

Back of the determination on the part of Nanking to end the contract with the cable companies is the steady advance of radio in China. Several powerful stations are now being erected by Nanking at various points throughout the country and these, it is said, will take care of all communication between China and foreign countries after Dec. 31.

To pay for the stations and at the same time square up old debts to the cable companies, the ministry of communications is floating a $5,000,000 bond issue. Much of this sum will be handed over to the cable concerns when their contracts expire while the balance will go toward the completion of the radio stations.

One station is being erected in Shanghai, another at Hankow and still another at Tientsin. One will also be built at Canton later in the year.

Radio in the interior is also finding increased support, both on the part of Nanking and the provincial government. Four or possibly five new stations are to be erected in Szechuen and Honan provinces this year.

TARIFF PLEA FAILS

A demand for a tariff on imported oil was framed. They prepared figures and marched on Washington. In the House, Representative W. W. Hastings, Oklahoma, introduced an amendment taxing crude oil $1 a barrel and imposing a 50 per cent duty on gasoline. But nothing came of it, as the Senate defeated the oil tariff proposal, 37 to 29.

But the independents aren't discouraged. Their organization is still intact, with headquarters in Tulsa. Their war chest is well supplied. They point out that, in one way or another, more than a million Americans depend on the domestic oil-producing industry for a living.

They say they still intend to fight.

WHITE PEARL Macaroni Products

Quickly prepared, no waste

Even "dyed-in-the-wool" oil engineers get a thrill out of this test . . .

IT IS A SIMPLE experiment, but the dramatic results excite even oil experts.

A quart of "used" Iso-Vis is drained from a car driven many hundreds of miles. It is black with the road dust and dirt that always accumulate in the crankcase.

Five minutes later we have a quart of oil that might have come straight from the refinery. It has the clear amber color. The same heavy body. You could put it in your car and drive half across the continent.

It is exactly the same quart of oil that was just taken from the crankcase!

What has happened?

What has happened in the laboratory is simply that a quart of used Iso-Vis has been put through a special filter which has removed dust and dirt.

What has happened to the oil is that we have finally perfected a lubricant that does not change character in the crankcase—does not "thin out" or break down.

This advance is one of far-reaching importance in operating your car. It means better lubrication from the time you put this new type oil in the crankcase until you drain it off. It means less wear on moving parts and a longer average life for the automobile engine.

New Iso-Vis has other important advantages. It brings a radical reduction of carbon deposit. And it gives lubrication over a wider range of temperatures than any oil we have yet tested.

New Iso-Vis is on sale at all Standard Oil dealers and service stations.

OBSERVING the oil cleaning experiment which proves that New Iso-Vis does not "break down" in the automobile crankcase.

The used oil is poured through a special filter. The filter removes the crankcase dirt and the oil itself is exactly the same as when freshly distilled.

LITERALLY hundreds of thousands of miles of road tests were made with this new oil before it was pronounced ready for the public.

THE result of tests for carbon deposit with 4 premium-priced oils. Carbon from New Iso-Vis is shown at extreme right. All 4 oils ran for 50 hours in the same motor under similar conditions.

New ISO-VIS Motor Oil

The New Polarine is also affected by our new refining process, giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

an investment that Increases in Value

There are some things that grow better with use . . . So it is with your telephone, -- each hour it increases its value. Each day it gives the same, steady, accurate service as it did the first day it came into your home, --- but to an ever growing number of telephones.

So, it goes without saying, the more you use your telephone, the more valuable it becomes . . . Valuable because it keeps you in closer and perhaps more frequent contact with friends and acquaintances. Worthwhile, because it does your outside errands in bad weather. Useful, because it is always ready, on guard, to summon help in case of emergency . . . Priceless, because it saves your precious time.

Your telephone is a good investment, --- an investment of constantly increasing value.

LABOR OFFICIALS ADDRESS WOMEN ON LABOR PLANS

Meeting at Labor Hall Monday Evening Is Well Attended

New London—The meeting at labor hall Monday evening for women was well attended. The speakers were Joseph Strasky, of Oshkosh, Miss Pork, Oshkosh, acting president, Mr. Slater of Chicago, organizer of united garment workers of America, Mrs. Kate Steuck of Oshkosh who was the first president of the garment workers, elected in 1896. Also spoke, as did Miss Alda Jensen of Oshkosh. Twelve lady delegates accompanied the speakers. Each speaker took part in the history of organized labor.

Another meeting of the same nature will be held next Monday evening at Labor Hall. A dance will be given, Saturday evening for union members at the hall. The regular meeting for men will be held Friday night.

Arrangements have been made with the Civic League and Supt. of schools R. J. McMahon to assist in building a cinder track at the Athletic park for use of the high school track team, which the city is financially unable to do. They will donate labor and auto trucks with which to haul the dirt and cinders.

GOLF PLAYERS ACTIVE ON SPRINGVALE COURSE

New London—Although the official opening of Springvale golf course was Wednesday, no one ventured out in the drizzling rain, but forty-three players registered at the grounds Sunday, fourteen of whom were Clintonville members. Among the out-of-city players were W. H. Olsen, Kowaneue, W. Williams and H. L. Houghton, who were guests in the Al Krueger home and Otto Krueger of Wausau.

An added attraction to the grounds this year will be the establishment of a fish and game reserve sponsored by the Isaak Walton League enthusiast in the county. Pheasant eggs have been purchased and trout and partridge will be added later. The head of Carey Creek forms on the ground and is an ideal place for game.

KAUKAUNA NINES MEET SUNDAY IN OPENING BATTLE

Little Fox and Fox River Valley Entries to Face Each Other

Kaukauna—Baseball fans will get their first glimpse of the Kaukauna city team Sunday afternoon at the ball park in a game against the Kaukauna Eagles. The Eagles belong to the Little Fox league and the city team is a member of the Fox River Valley league. A pre-season game will be played at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, May 4 with Neenah-Menasha at the local ball park, according to Manager Les Smith.

The first league game will be played with Wisconsin Rapids at the latter city on May 11. Kaukauna fans will not see a league game at home until May 13, when Kimberly-Little Chute invades the Electric City. The team has settled down to a routine of practice this week and is expected to be ready to give an exhibit by next Sunday. The strength of the home club probably will be shown in the pre-season game with Neenah-Menasha.

George Humber, right handed pitcher will make his first appearance here for the Kaves and fans are anxious to see the new twirler in action. He has been working out for several weeks.

The Kaukauna club includes most of the old players of last year. Among them are "Shorty" Wenzel, Sager, Phillips, Vils, Mulry, Kilgas, Stegeman, English and Kilgas.

The league schedule opens with Wisconsin Rapids on May 10. On May 13 the club plays on the home grounds against Kimberly-Little Chute. May 25 will find the Smithmen at Green Bay, and on Memorial Day, May 30 at Appleton. Neenah-Menasha will play a league game against the Kaves on June 1 at the former city.

On June 13 the locals will play in Wisconsin Rapids on June 22 Green Bay will play here. Sunday, June 23, Neenah-Menasha will play on the local diamond. Kaukauna and Kimberly-Little Chute will meet at Little Chute for the Independence Day battle. Green Bay will come here on July 13. Kaukauna will play at home on the following Sunday against Neenah-Menasha. On July 27 Kim-Little Chute will invade the local team. The Smithmen will play Wisconsin Rapids here on Aug. 3. Aug. 10 will find the Electric City team at Green Bay. Aug. 17 the team will play at home against Kimberly-Little Chute. Wisconsin Rapids will play here on Aug. 24 and the season will end on Sept. 7 with Kaukauna playing at Neenah-Menasha.

DRUNKEN DRIVER PAYS $50 FINE IN JUSTICE COURT

Kaukauna—Henry Lorenz was fined $50 and costs of $4.75 Monday morning when he pleaded guilty of drunken driving. He was fined by Justice of Peace E. E. Zekind. He was arrested Sunday on Dodge-st.

CITY WILL FIGHT MILK INJUNCTION

Council Instructs Attorney to Prepare Defense in Action

Kaukauna—Wishing to determine the legality of the milk ordinance recently adopted by the common council, the council at an informal meeting Monday night instructed Joseph LeFevre, city attorney, to contest the injunction served on the city last week by the Appleton Pure Milk Co.

Following adoption of the ordinance a few weeks ago, providing that milk distributed in the city must be secured within a radius of five miles of Kaukauna and pasteurized in Kaukauna, the Appleton concern secured the injunction, charging the ordinance was discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The council also discussed city finances and committee appointments for the ensuing year. The appointments will be announced by the mayor at the council's next regular meeting.

TWO PAY FINES FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Kaukauna—Wilford Weyers and George Jacobs were each fined $2 and costs of $4.75 by Justice of Peace E. E. Zekind Monday morning. They were charged with disorderly conduct and were arrested Sunday.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press

New York—Miss Natalie Potter, a member of the Junior league, who has been a professional actress since her debut and is appearing now in "Those We Love," is engaged to William C. Ladd, a son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis W. Ladd of Cleveland.

Philadelphia—Audiences of the Philadelphia orchestra disagreed with the director, Leopold Stokowski, as to the merits of applause, and he will abide by their wishes. In a curtain speech he said handclapping was disturbing and in inheritance perhaps from the dark ages. Then he sent a questionnaire to 1,000 subscribers and 700 favored applause.

New York—Mary Jackson Riker, Jr., whose mother's name was Riker before and after marriage, is to marry William Chandler Riker.

Florence, Italy—D. P. Ray is a cycling professor of India who is pedaling around the world. On Jan. 1 he left Lahore, where he is a member of the faculty of Samay college and since then has been in eight countries. He expects to be in the United States in the fall.

Lisbon, Portugal—A monument is to be erected here to the famous navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, who discovered the strait that bears his name. The cornerstone is to be laid next Saturday.

Grinstead, Essex, England—What war, man and the elements have left standing for 1,200 years is menaced by the death watch beetle. The walls of the ancient parish church, made of oak from a virgin forest, are suffering from insect ravages.

Newport, R. I.—They have been dancing the cotillon again. It was the feature of an artists' costume ball ushering in the post-Lenten season. Mrs. William H. Vandebilt and Mrs. Muriel Vandebilt Church were among the patronesses.

Because they were not getting satisfactory prices for dogskins, dog owners in the interior of China refused to sell, and this has caused a shortage of the "fur" in Chinese cities.

"RED" SMITH'S TEAM PLAYING GOOD BALL

Kaukauna—The baseball team of Georgetown University at Washington, D. C. which is coached by Richard "Red" Smith is having a successful season. It has won seven out of the first eight games played. Smith has appeared here with the Kaukauna city baseball team and is a former high school student of this city.

PIPES ALL LAID ON KAUKAUNA GOLF LINKS

Kaukauna—Laying of pipes on the Kaukauna Golf club course was completed Monday. About $1,200 worth of glass seed will be planted this week. Most of the land is ready for seeding. The general outlay of the course with the greens is completed. The fairways and roughs have been staked out for planting.

DENTAL CLINICS TO BE RESUMED FRIDAY

Kaukauna—Dental clinics will be resumed this week for school children with Dr. D. J. Dolinski. A change it will be held from 1:30 to 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. About five more clinics will be held.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN AFTER EASTER RECESS

Kaukauna—Public schools resumed work Tuesday after the Easter vacation. Trinity Evangelical Lutheran school, which was closed since last Monday, was opened Monday. The other parochial schools opened Tuesday.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derus.

His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derus.

SCHNEIDER WOULD BAN PIKE FISHING DURING SPAWNING

Protests State Law Permitting Practice Along Wolf River

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—Exercised over the catching of pike in the Wolf river as they go on their way to their spawning beds. Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton has registered a vigorous protest with William Mauthe of the State Conservation commission.

The congressman was aware that the law permits the catching of pike as they go up the river to spawn until they get to New London, but expressed the hope that the law would be changed. Chairman Mauthe agreed with the congressman that it is a "rotten situation" and said that he would seek amendment of the law in the next Legislature.

"The poor fishes must run the gauntlet from Winnebago Lake to New London and should they be fortunate enough to get across the line, they will have the opportunity of depositing their spawn and propagating the species," Rep. Schneider wrote Chairman Mauthe, after reading an account in the Appleton Post-Crescent about the crowds of fishermen taking pike as they went upstream to spawn.

Permitting this is inconsistent with the federal and state work for the propagation of pike, Rep. Schneider said.

"I wish that the law might be repealed making a closed season in the Winnebago waters as well as elsewhere," Rep. Schneider concluded. "I am simply writing these few lines to express to you my indignation at this outrage."

"What crimes are committed in the name of sportsmanship?" Chairman Mauthe, writing from Fond du Lac, said that sportsmen there and at Madison are in favor of fixing the closed season on pike in that region as Rep. Schneider recommended, but that Oshkosh people feel differently about it.

He expressed the hope that Wisconsin would further change its law to protect and conserve the pike.

Of Interest To Farmers

CROP REPORTERS IN EVERY TOWNSHIP

They Watch Crop and Livestock Conditions and Record Records

Madison—Nearly every township has from one to three crop reporters who watch and report on crop and livestock conditions each month to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture at Madison.

These reporters are usually farmers or local business men interested in agriculture, and they are the eyes through which the government sees regularly the farm conditions in the locality. Their service is voluntary.

Release dates of regular monthly crop reports for the balance of 1930 have been set by the United States secretary of agriculture as follows: April 14, May 10, June 10, July 11, August 11, September 11, October 10, November 11, December 17, and December 20.

Wisconsin crop reports will cover subject matter of seasonal and special interest to Wisconsin farmers. Each month's report will be a gradual and further development of the crop situation including condition figures, probable yield per acre, and indicated production of various crops as the season advances, and, finally, showing the actual production of the year for grains, hay, fruit, truck and special crops. Aside from this, pasture condition figures will be included during the pasture months as well as other special information from time to time.

Steady and continuous service of a large staff of Wisconsin crop reporters makes possible these monthly and special reports. Not all of the reporters serve on each subject, but at various times different groups are called upon to assist in furnishing data on different items.

Their accurate response is reflected in the information made available and in the service rendered by the federal and state departments of agriculture to the farm people of Wisconsin, according to Walter H. Ebbing and S. J. Gilbert, statisticians.

Are You As Guilty As She?

STOMACH SUFFERERS WORST OFFENDERS

BAD breath spoils the sweetest smile and in all fairness to a mouth washer you cannot expect them to correct such a condition when it arises from the stomach. You ought to be the first to suspect yourself. That disgusting "brown" morning taste in your mouth, a whitish or yellow-coated tongue—these are sure signs. Indigestion, bloating, gas, raisings of food and bowel disorders are other signs your stomach is upset and soured, producing a repulsive odor that is expelled every time you open your lips to speak or smile.

You need Tanlac, to properly correct this condition. Just a tablespoon before meals will help cleanse your stomach and intestines of the accumulation of fermenting matter that befools your breath, give you an appetite and help digest food. Make a trial of Tanlac for ten days—watch how that dark brown taste disappears—how much better you digest food—how your tongue clears up—how much better you feel generally. Tanlac is pleasant to take and inexpensive. As a stomach cleanser and rebuilder it has no equal. Get a bottle today at your druggist's. It must help you or money back. Accept no substitute.

SEEK SECRETARY FOR REAL ESTATE BOARD

Madison—(P)—A civil service examination for the position of secretary to the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers' board will be held here May 13, the bureau of personnel announced today.

The successful applicant for the position will succeed John L. Newman, who resigned several weeks ago at the request of the board. Newman's resignation, which virtually amounted to an ouster, came following a trip to Texas on which he purchased 10 acres of citrus fruit lands.

Purchase of the lands brought censure upon the secretary from members of the board who have long sought to prevent the sale of these lands to Wisconsin residents.

The position pays an entrance salary of not in excess of $333 a month with a maximum rate of $400 a month.

FLOWERS BENEFICIAL TO SICK, BOARD REPORTS

Madison—(P)—The state board of health has shattered another popular misconception in the announcement that flowers are beneficial rather than harmful to sick persons.

The belief that plants should be removed from sleeping rooms at night is entirely without foundation," the state board said. "During the day they give off oxygen and moisture and take up carbon dioxide. At night they give up carbon dioxide but a whole greenhouse full of plants would not give off enough to affect injuriously the composition of the air."

CABARET SINGER AT 78

London—Grigori Makaroff got his tiling at cabarets at an old age. Nevertheless, he is one of the best cabaret singers in this city. He was formerly a star of the Russian Imperial theatre and boasts the deepest bass voice in the world. He was made prisoner by the Soviets, escaped, and came to London 10 years ago.

A low investment for a perfect equipment should consult Mrs. Berg, examining her new hen house, and discover her methods. Beside explaining everything, Mrs. Berg will probably advise her visitors to get the bulletins on poultry raising from the College of Agriculture and to use them as reliable guides.

THE BIG SHOT by FRANK L. PACKARD

Chapter 24
THE LID BLOWN OFF
THE tension that had gripped Enid during the hours of her dangerous adventure held her in its grasp until she was back in the guest room of her brother's house.
She was exhausted physically by the strenuous activity but the mental torment she was suffering drove sleep from her mind. Her mind seemed to follow in a cycle in which she found a gleam of hope only to see it vanish.
Conscious of her own danger—or the fate that surely would follow if her rescue of Phil Martin were discovered, it was like Enid that her thoughts were for the safety of others.
She smiled over what Martin had told her. Roy was wanted for the murder of Jonvets. He had said. She could not bring herself to believe being slung violently open. There was the stamp of feet in the vestibule. Then the Big Shot's voice in harsh tones evidently calling up the stairs:
"Yes! Ma! Come down here! And the old man, too! Hop to it!"
She heard the sound of movement from above, and the next instant heard Mrs. Kane's answer from, she presumed, the head of the stairs:
"What is it? What's happened?"
"Matter," the Big Shot's voice held an ugly laugh. "Tell's blown lid off—that's what's the matter!"
Footsteps, those of Mr. and Mrs. Kane undoubtedly, were hurriedly descending the stairs now came then a confusion of voices from the lower hall, everybody talking at once; and then suddenly the voices became indistinct. They had all gone into the front room, she thought.
Without a sound she got out of bed and stole to the door. She cautiously opened her door a crack. Yes, that's where they were—in the front room. And she could hear quite well now, the door into the hall had been left open.
There was only one voice speaking now—the Big Shot's. "Mr. Kane, if you'll close your jaws and give me a chance. We were after that—civ Martin to put him through and find out how much he knew. Batty Rose was running it, with Skinny and a couple more of the boys and a car. But they didn't start anything until after dark. Then Batty picked Martin up in a Peto Lancia. Martin had kissed with him and—
"You mean the police lieutenant?"—this a little tremulous, and obviously from Mr. Kane.
"Yes!" The Big Shot's voice was vicious. Batty shot into a seat at the next table and picked up a word or two of what they were saying. Martin said that Shive Frank had spilled the beans in some sort of a written confession about some of the jobs Shive Frank and I had pulled together a few years ago. Martin said he couldn't get at the papers for two or three days yet, but as soon as he got them he'd have the goods on me enough times over to send me to a dozen chairs."
"Where are the papers?" Kane asked.
"How do I know?" the Big Shot answered fiercely. "That's one of the things we would have made Martin tell us. And we will yet! We'll get him again before he has a chance to pull anything. We've got to get him now."
"You mean?" Mrs. Kane's voice mingled dismay and fear—"you mean he got away from the bird cage?" Izzy Myers said that Batty Rose had him there."
"Yes, he got away?" The Big Shot snarled. "Thanks to some skirt." He then told how the girl and Martin had escaped. Enid knew most of it except that the two men who arrived as they escaped were Willie and Mullins.
"Batty got out just before the cops piled into the place," the Big Shot was saying. "All of them went dumb and they found out how we can kiss a half million good by."

"Yes!"—Mr. Kane was obviously in a frenzy of fear and excitement—"and with the police in that house, and with what you said about Shive Frank, we'd better blow, too—and do it quick while we've got a chance."
"Blow!" The Big Shot flung out a grating laugh. "Nix! Nothing doing! Blow! It's just the height of the season—and things are coming good. There's nothing to connect us with that house; and as for that Shive Frank stuff it may be all bunk, but whether it is or not, we'll get that sneaking Martin first—and anyway they don't even know who the Big Shot that they're looking for is."
"What did Batty say that woman looked like tonight?" He saw her, didn't he?" Mrs. Kane broke in.
Enid's fingers gripped tightly at the door jamb.
"Yes, he saw her—but he didn't know who she was. He'd never seen her before. He said she looked like a freak out of a museum. Dirty, dirty hands, spectacles, clothes like girdians used to wear, and that out of the alk that flopped at over her face."
"No," Mrs. Kane seemed almost to be speaking to herself—"it doesn't sound like her—unless, of course she was disguised."
"Her? Who?" The Big Shot's voice rang out sharply, imperatively—"What are you talking about? We've got to get her, too. Do you think you know who she is?"
"I was thinking about last night. There was a malicious snarl in Mrs. Kane's voice. "It's kind of queer about a woman butting in that, and you know—"
"You mean Enid Howard?" The Big Shot barked. "Has she gone?"
"Not that I know of." Mrs. Kane's tones were sour. "You said the dear child wasn't to be disturbed. I haven't been near her room. I rather wish I had now."
"You're crazy!" The Big Shot's voice was rasping, angry. "You've got it in for her—and God help anyone you go out after! Why, the girl's too sick to leave her bed. What are you trying to do—start something?"
"I'm only telling you what flashed into my mind." Mrs. Kane's voice was still malicious. "Anyway, I certainly don't trust her."
"Well," exploded the Big Shot savagely. "Well, we'll soon see! I'll take a look and—"
Silently Enid closed the door, and, running swiftly back across the room, her bare feet nosed on the carpet, got into bed. Perhaps a minute passed when she saw the door begin to open slowly. It made no sound.
She closed her eyes then, simulating sleep. She heard someone—Roy, of course—it couldn't be anyone else—tip-toe across the room to her bedside. She sensed him bending over her. She felt his breath upon her cheek. He seemed to stand there for an interminable length of time—until it seemed that she could no longer be there quietly, that she must move, cry out, do something, that to breathe in a regular, natural way was beyond her power any more.
And then he tiptoed back across the room again, and the door closed softly—but it was daylight before she fell asleep.

"BACK TO NATURE" CITY IN FRANCE
Paris—Plans for the "city of nudity." Physiologists, are rapidly going ahead, and on the Isle of Medag, a short distance from here on the river Seine, there is now room for 10,000 inhabitants who are to be won over to the cause of nature.
In Physiologists no clothing will be worn, the return to nature being gradual, however. It will be a city of fresh air and sunshine. There will be no automobiles, movies, noise or smoke from factory chimneys.
Two brothers, both doctors, are at the head of the society, and their hope is to create a cult which is designed to make doctors a useless class of people by making them people to nature and its cures.

WALL STREET TURNS ITS ATTENTION TO COPPER CONDITION

Price of Metal, Cut Four Cents, Expected to Attract Buying

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York (CPA)—
With the price of copper metal reduced 4 cents a pound, or to a level expected to attract both domestic and foreign buying, the interest of Wall Street has switched from the trade situation to that of the likely performance of copper shares under the new conditions.

Temporarily the readjustment in the metal price operated as a stimulant to the stocks and encouraged some short covering. This phase was of a fleeting character, however, and as the financial district has studied the outlook, both with respect to the known facts and the precedents of other periods of copper market deflation, it has taken a more bearish attitude toward these securities. This was reflected in lower prices for them at the end of last week and again Monday, when a number were at new low prices for the year.

In good times the copper companies are disposed to treat their shareholders more liberally than many other industrials. They argue that owners of the stocks are entitled to this treatment as to a certain extent, there is a liquidating feature in all mining operations as reserves of the metal ore suffer depletion from year to year. The American companies and those whose mines are in other parts of the world pay good dividends when they are able to do so but are prone to conserve their cash resources when demand for their products slackens and the parity between the cost of mining and the market price narrows down to a few cents a pound.

ANACONDA IS LEADER

The situation surrounding Anaconda copper is the one that at present most concerns Wall Street. Anaconda, in its field, has the position as United States Steel in the iron and steel industry, General Motors in the automobile trade and General Electric in the electrical supply business. Last year Anaconda copper increased its payment to shareholders from 6 per cent to 7 per cent per annum. There was some feeling at the time that this was done to assist an operation in marketing the stock.

During one of the earlier breaks in 1929 over 1,000,000 shares of Anaconda were accumulated by one organization and distributed in moderate sized blocks among investors throughout the country. Later additional shares were picked up in the market so that altogether it has been estimated close to 1,250,000 shares were sold at prices ranging from par up to 125 and 150.

It is now recalled that some of the interests identified with this distribution were those who took an active part in the movements of the old Amalgamated Copper stock, which was a popular speculative favorite in its day. In one of the great periods of copper metal deflation, which was also postponed until trade conditions compelled it, this company cut its dividend from 8 to 2 per cent.

NO DIVIDEND ACTION
None of the copper companies has so far acted on dividends since the metal price was reduced to 14 cents. Just prior to that the regular quarterly rate was declared on Anaconda copper and is pay able next month. The dividend meeting of Kennecott copper directors does not take place until June 1. One of the southwestern producers reduced its rate during the winter from 10 to 6 per cent. So far as the important producers are concerned they will not take up the question of what they ought to pay to their shareholders in the present crisis until from six weeks to two months have elapsed. They will then be in a better position to determine how far this adjustment has benefited them and how long they will be required to sell metal at 14 cents.

Reports from Washington today stated that the copper producers had been meeting with Secretary Lamont at intervals in the last few weeks and informed him of the conditions in the industry. He did not indicate that any plan had been advanced for immediate improvement of affairs in this trade.

NEW PIPE 670 MILES LONG TO CARRY FUEL

Pittsburgh, Pa. (P)—Gasoline for the Great Lakes states may soon be brought to them overland from the eastern seaboard through what may be the world's largest pipe line, completed at a cost of over $5,000,000. Built of six-inch pipe, the line, it is estimated, will be approximately 670 miles in length, and will have a capacity of 15,000 barrels of gasoline daily.

Existing lines extend only from the vicinity of Marcus Hook to refineries in Western Pennsylvania, carrying crude oil hauled to the east by tankers from the oil fields of the west.

INCREASE IN TRACTORS RAISES HORSE PRICES

Madison, Wis. (P)—The workhorse is due to stage a "comeback" in financial value, all because of increased use of tractors, predicts the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin.

Inroads of tractors on the horse's domain have resulted in fewer horses being raised, and the value of the horse thus increases with the decrease in supply, the university officials say.

Wisconsin farmers have not yet decided they can get along without the horse, according to the university.

NO MARKED CHANGE IN EMPLOYMENT IS NOTICED IN STATE

Seasonal Relief Is Near, However, Commission Believes

Madison—(P)—No marked changes have appeared in the depressed employment situation over a month ago but seasonal relief is near, the state industrial commission announced today on the basis of reports from superintendents of public employment offices.

Reports from representative Wisconsin cities show the following conditions:

Ashland—Prospects for improvement in employment conditions are very bright. The Celanese Lumber company has re-opened its saw mill and logging camps, and operation of the ore docks will be started in the near future. One sawmill has recently closed for the season, releasing 175 men.

La Crosse—Factory employment is slack with a large surplus of workers. The operating condition of individual factories is as follows: one factory is closed; four factories working with full crews; three factories work four days per week with crews reduced to 50 per cent and 60 per cent of normal; one factory works five days per week with 75 per cent of working force; three factories work five and one-half days per week with 60, 75 and 80 per cent of normal working forces. Private building projects to be started within the next thirty days total about $230,000 and public construction projects will continue to give employment to approximately seventy building tradesmen and building laborers.

Green Bay—Work is picking up slowly. There is a large surplus of both skilled and unskilled labor. Within the next two weeks seasonable work will increase. Orders for farm help are in good volume. Industrial plants generally are running full time but with reduced working forces. A large amount of unemployment continues among building tradesmen and both skilled and unskilled workers in the metal working industries.

Madison—Employment is on the increase. There is, however, still a larger surplus of building mechanics and common laborers. The local demand for farm labor is good. Road

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, cures children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

BUILDING SHOWS GAIN LAST MONTH OVER LAST YEAR

Increase in City at Variance With Record in State

With building permits aggregating $99,851 issued during March, Appleton construction work showed an increase over both February and March, 1929, according to the monthly report of Straus and company. February's building amounted to $26,953, and that of March last year $72,954.

Wisconsin, with a total of $3,332,339 last month, a drop from the totals of last month and the same month last year, was rated twelfth among the 12 leading states of the union. The Straus national survey shows that building construction throughout the United States has definitely taken a turn for the better. There was a 46 per cent gain in March over February, building permits issued in 533 cities totalling $187,270,891, as compared to $125,048,217 in February.

Green Bay, with $75,704, showed a decrease from the $176,500 of March 1929, and an increase over February, which showed only $11,155 in permits. Oshkosh with $68,571, broke about even with March, 1929, but was way below the $151,876 of February. With $15,242 in March, Fond du Lac compared unfavorably with the $24,078 of the same month last year, but gained on the $9,650 of February. Sheboygan's total for last month, $85,235 was just $2,000 more than February's total, and $10,000 less than March, 1929.

Other state totals for March were Beloit $11,055, Eau Claire $53,731, Janesville $29,360, Kenosha $311,248, Madison $70,519, Manitowish $41,710, Milwaukee $2,297,762, Racine $141,345, Stevens Point $14,814, Superior $10,025, Waukesha $31,514, and Wausau $21,975.

Survey Establishes Areas For Six Proposed Forests In State

A statewide forestry survey which has been conducted by the conservation commission for several months past has now resulted in the definite establishment of six proposed areas for state forests. The purpose of the survey was to determine the areas in the state best adapted to forestry purposes and which could be acquired by the state without excessive expenditure.

The six proposed forestry areas are: (1) the Erbe river forest in Douglas Co.; (2) the Thunder Mountain district in Marinette and Oconto Cos.; (3) the Kettle Moraine district in Sawyer Co.; (4) the district north of Rhineland in Vilas and Oneida Cos. which includes Northern Forest State park and the American Legion Memorial State park and Forest Preserve; (5) the central-eastern district which embraces parts of Jackson, Clark, Monroe, Wood and Juneau Cos.; and (6) the Kettle Moraine district in Fond du Lac and Sheboygan Cos.

The first four of these areas are located in districts in which the state is already the owner of considerable land. This is particularly true in the Vilas and Oneida Cos. tract where the state now owns the majority of the land. Although the conservation commission does not have jurisdiction over all of the state-owned land in these districts, putting the land to forestry use will be acceptable to the state land commission, the other owner of the state lands.

Neither of the two districts located in the southern half of the state contain any state land. The fifth, or central counties tract is the largest of them all and the Kettle Moraine district is the smallest.

All of the areas except the Kettle Moraine district are now within forest fire protective areas where active supervision is already maintained by the conservation commission.

LAND TO BE PURCHASED
Setting aside these proposed state forest areas is in line with the instructions of the people in the state, expressed in the forestry referendum of 1924 which administered the conservation commission to "acquire, preserve, and protect" the forests of the state. It will be made possible by the action of the legislature in providing funds by the 1-20 mill forestry tax which is to be used for forestry and reforestation purposes.

The conservation commission will not be able to begin actual purchase in these areas until the project has the approval of the governor and the state budget director. Plans will be presented to them very shortly.

The 1-20 mill forestry tax levied by the last legislature will raise approximately $20,000 this year on the assessed valuation of the state. All but about $8,000 of this money will be necessary for fire protection and other forestry expenses. The remaining $12,000 will be available for land purchase pending action of the governor and budget director.

"The establishment of these areas and the beginning of purchase in them represents only a beginning in the enlarged forestry program for Wisconsin," says Paul L. Kellender, conservation director. "These areas have been set aside to start with, and they represent places in which forestry efforts will be carried on first."

ONLY A BEGINNING
"It should be considered that these areas represent only a beginning, and that the work will be greatly expanded in the future. The land included within the areas while primarily set aside for forestry, will also serve the public as a recreational, hunting, and fishing grounds. All areas in the future set aside for forests in Wisconsin will be so administered as to give the maximum benefit to the people of the state at the present time without impairing their future value as forests."

CHINESE MAKE GOOD USE OF TELEGRAPH

San Francisco—(P)—Chinatown, with its chamber of commerce, stock and telephone exchanges, and civic uplift bodies, has taken to another Caucasian practice with gusto. The telegraph, with its automatic tape machines and speed, has captivated the fancy of the Chinese who now file more than 100 messages and cable daily in their own language.

In the only office of its kind in the new world, three Chinese and four messengers handle the Oriental business of the largest Chinatown in the country.

Messages are accepted in Chinese characters, tolls are added by an agent and patrons are greeted in sing-song tones of the Oriental tongue. Messages are received in English, translated to Chinese, and delivered.

It is desired the Chinese characters are transcribed to the message. Jimmie Lee, messenger boy for eight years and now manager, is assisted by Fessie Loo and Rosaline Wong in translating, dispatching and receiving messages. The three are American-educated. Miss Loo being a university graduate.

Always discreet, the Chinese have taken kindly toward the new office, and particularly those who splurge in stocks. Through a native-tongued office they are able to transact business on Wall Street.

SERVE BUTTER IN NATIONAL HOMES, BLAINE ADVISES

If Practice Was Followed There Would Be No Surplus, He Declares

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Wash. Corrs.

Washington—If butter had been used in the National Homes for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers instead of the 502,407 pounds of butter substitutes used in these 11 homes, there would have been no butter surplus in 1929, declares Sen. John J. Blaine of Boscebol.

Federal institutions in a year's period studied by Sen. Blaine used 1,735,827 pounds of butter and 998,050 pounds of oleomargarine and butterine.

Rep. Edward E. Browne of Waukegan has introduced a bill which would prohibit all federal institutions with the exception of federal prisons from using butter substitutes.

The National Homes for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers are the worst offenders, according to Sen. Blaine, while the Navy and Marine hospitals use butter almost entirely. The national soldiers' homes used only 81,356 pounds of butter and 593,407 pounds of butter substitutes during the period for which he reported.

The Northwestern Branch at Milwaukee used only 7,490 pounds of butter and 48,841 pounds of butter substitutes during the year ended April 30, 1929, he found. The only branches of the national homes which used butter in any appreciable quantities were those at Dayton, Ohio, Sawtelle, Calif., and Johnson City, Tenn.

St. Elizabeth's hospital, the federal institution for the insane in Washington, D. C., used no butter at all and 121,297 pounds of butter substitutes during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929.

"I have been unable to learn why butter is not served at St. Elizabeth's hospital for the insane, and there is no explanation given why scarcely any butter is served to the veterans of the Civil War and the Spanish-American War in the national homes," Sen. Blaine said.

In the 51 Veterans' Bureau hospitals there were 979,818 pounds of butter served and 157,073 pounds of oleomargarine served in the year. Sen. Blaine said, commenting, "I think the director of the Veterans' Bureau is entitled to congratulations and the great approval for furnishing a proper diet for those in the institutions under his charge."

In the five federal prisons, 20,139 pounds of butter and 196,627 pounds of oleomargarine or butterine were served.

At the United States army hospitals, there were 214,750 pounds of butter and 11,872 pounds of butter substitutes served; at the 15 Navy hospitals, 250,875 pounds of butter and no butter substitutes; at the marine hospitals, 187,759 pounds of butter and 8,804 pounds of butter substitutes.

Sen. Blaine also reported that there were 972,864 pounds of vegetable shortening or lard substitute and salad oil used in these federal institutions. He called the attention of the appropriations committee to the failure of federal institutions to use butter.

ANOTHER QUICK VICTORY WON BY NEW KONJOLA

Pains of Rheumatism and Neuritis Banished by New and Different Medicine

MR. GEORGE J. HOYER

"I suffered frightful agony from rheumatism and neuritis for three years," said Mr. George J. Hoyer, 251 South Central avenue, Burlington, Ia. "Nothing relieved me. The pain centered in my shoulders and lower limbs until I was nearly mad with the suffering. My kidneys were weak and my ankles and lower limbs became terribly swollen. Sharp, shooting pains of neuritis struck me in various parts of my body."

"I was skeptical about Konjola which was recommended to me by many people whom I had heard of. But the first bottle of this splendid medicine gave me faith, and I followed this with five more bottles. Today I have no trace of my former ailments. I am enjoying health that I never expected to have again. It is still difficult to believe that one medicine could do all this great remedy did for me, and I urge every sufferer to try it."

Not designed for temporary relief, Konjola goes quickly to the source of the ill of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. When taken over a period of six to eight weeks the results will be amazing.

Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schlimm Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Saltis Quits Racket To Be "Gentleman Farmer"

Chicago—(P)—Exit: Joe Saltis, wife and children.

A few days before Capone was to return after 10 months in prison Saltis bid goodbye to "the racket."

Hereafter, the west-side chieftain will be the landed baron of Saltisville, Wis., where, as he said, he "sunk $100,000 in a little place."

Saltis' last appearance—so, he promised the chief of detectives—was the garish funeral of "Dingbat" Oberia who had been taken for a ride. Oberia had been a Saltis henchman. Joe said he "picked his boy out of the gutter and made a man of him."

The husky Saltis, a few years before a day laborer, speaking guttural English, then a saloon keeper, went into the beer racket on the west side as a Dion O'Banion follower. O'Banion provided the first of the lavish gangster funerals.

A couple of years later "Mitters" Foley was slain, and Saltis was tried, with two others, for the murder. While the trial was in progress "Hymie" Weiss, O'Banion's successor and a gangster pal were killed, another hoodlum and Saltis' lawyer wounded, when machine guns sprayed bullets upon them in front of the O'Banion flower shop. Weiss had a list of the panel called for jury service. Saltis was freed.

Every gang killing in the last five years has called up Saltis' name. A year ago Joe spent a stretch in the county jail for carrying a gun. Then the government played hide and seek with him several months over a tax matter.

It's been a busy life, but that's all over now, with Joe looking forward to a peaceful old age in a sylvan setting.

The Saltisville estate has two nine-hole golf courses, and clubhouse with sleeping quarters for 26 persons. Joe named the township of 62 population. Twenty-six of them work for him.

ENGINEER'S OFFICE MOVED TO CITY HALL

Menasha—Headquarter of the Menasha engineering department have been transferred to the city hall to make room for the new office arrangements at the city offices. As soon as suitable furnishings can be secured, Mayor N. G. Remmel will occupy one of the rooms vacated by the engineering department, and Miss Edna Robertson, city Red Cross head, will utilize the other. The new arrangements were made imperative by the lack of office space for municipal executives in the city offices.

PARAMOUNT OFFERS SPLENDID REVUE

"Paramount on Parade" Is Called Superior to Other Star Pictures

BY JOHN S. COHEN, JR.
Motion Picture Critic of the New York Sun

New York—(CPA)—Paramount steps to bat, at the Rialto and swats out a revue, "Paramount on Parade"—which is despite stretches of stupid material and a heart-breaking wasting of several of its players, as superior to these gargantuan star-fights, "The Hollywood Revue" and "The Show of Shows" as "The Little Show" is superior to all the stage revues of the last few years.

More intimate, so-called, than any of the talkies revues, it has a certain taste—in its mode of production, in its kaleidoscopic camera effects, in its sets by John Wenger and others and in its general plan.

It was several funny sketches, too, and several first rate songs. And what people bob in and out of its partly technicolored snapshots! What people! There are the newly Hollywoodized, but thoroughly charming chevalier; the flip, fresh John Held drawing; Jack Oakie; Mlle. Boop-a-Doop Kane; Ruth Chatterton; George Bancroft; the marvelous child mimic and cartoonist, Mitzel Green; the bewildered Stuart Erwin and any number of others.

The whole was supervised by Elsie Janis and while, on occasion, it does betray that Y. M. C. A.—A. E. P.—cane touch that she is known for, it is fairly fresh stuff for the talkies.

The Messrs. Chevalier and Oakie appear probably more times than anyone else—which is a break for any revue—with the French happiness boy leading several songs and with Mr. Oakie as a recurring welcome and imish master of ceremonies, leading the various players to center-screen where they can best perform their acts.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(P)—Work in the field of chemistry will be discussed by persons at the Mid-West regional conference of the American Chemical society to be held here May 8 to 10. Nearly 600 persons are expected to attend, according to Dr. W. W. Bauer, Milwaukee, general chairman of the meeting.

The meeting is to take up work in the physical, inorganic and organic chemistry with stress laid on recent advances in chemical science and its applications to industry.

Working with Dr. Bauer are Walter McCrory, August C. Orthmann,

Berlin—Tiny red ants have saved 275,000 acres of valuable forest land in Germany. Two years ago it was found that these acres were being damaged by noxious insects. Then thousands of red ants were introduced in the territory. These set up colonies and soon the ravaging of the insects was stopped. The ants had killed off the insects.

Armstrong Quaker and Standard Rugs in Extra Large Sizes

Only in the Armstrong rugs can these extra large sizes be found. They are a great convenience for those exceptionally large rooms where the usual 9x12 rug is too small. They may be had in a size 11 1/4 x 12 feet and 11 1/4 by 15 feet. In both the Armstrong Quaker and the Standard rugs. Patterns and qualities are as attractive and reliable as in the usual sizes.

The Last Band Concert of the Season Will Be Given Tonight in Lawrence Chapel by the 120th Field Artillery Band

Even though spring has just begun outdoors, there is no reason why you can't have it in full flower in the house. Fresh curtains, fresh cretonnes and chintzes, immaculate damasks will make your home over, give it a new atmosphere. And as for curtains, there are a dozen different kinds that will suit every room in your house.

There's a Special Charm in Ruffled Curtains for Summer
$1.59 pr.

They are so crisp and fresh and dainty and so easily laundered. No wonder they are so generally chosen for summer use. There is an especially good value in a set of a pair of ruffled curtains with a valance and tie-backs. The valance is embroidered and the ruffle is overlapped in color. In rose and gold, blue and gold and green and gold. $1.59 a set.

A Cottage Set for Kitchen and Bath
$1.15

There are two long curtains, two sash curtains and two tie-backs. The daintiest and most practical arrangement for kitchen and bathroom windows. In orchid, green, blue and gold with white. $1.15 a set. Other sets to $2.75.

Damasks to Harmonize with Sheen-Type Rugs
$1.10 to $3.95 yd.

The same shades of soft mulberry, rust, orchid appear in these damasks that are so much seen in the popular sheen-type rugs. They make a lovely harmony of color in a richly furnished living room. There are plenty of patterns in the 50 inch width. $1.10 up to $3.95 a yard.

New Patterns in Armstrong Quaker Rugs, $10.95

Relieve yourself of all the work you can. Put down an Armstrong Quaker rug and the cleaning amounts to almost nothing. It's so easy to wipe off the glossy surface and keep it immaculate. There are new patterns for spring and interesting new color combinations. Size 9x12 is $10.95. In Armstrong Standard rugs the same size is $9.95.
